

TB Site Approved for County Building Budget Waits; $200,000 Tax Notes Pass

Council Is To Meet on January 16

Project Estimates Major Discussions

Tax anticipation notes in the sum of $200,000 to carry on the city's business pending collection of taxes were approved by the Common Council in a recessed session last night, but the aldermen again deferred, until Jan. 16, adoption of a 1957 budget.

A first indication of changes in the city's $2,335,665.36 budget tentatively fixing a tax rate of $57.24 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, came last night when the aldermen rescinded its authorization of salary raises for the corporation counsel and city clerk.

Talk About Projects

Alderman Samuel J. Perry (R) fifth ward and Ernest A. Steuding agreed on differences of opinion on sewer project procedures and City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan indicated to Richard V. Roth (R) 12th ward that concern over engineering fees for development work in the Pearl street extension area were erroneous and premature.

Mayor Frederick S. Stang led into the Perry-Steuding discussion, through Perry's question as to why the public works superintendent figured street repair estimates, and who asked him to do it, said he (Mayor Stang) did.

Common Practice, He Says

This, the mayor said, has been common practice in the city for many years, and he explained, "To the fullest extent we work together."

Perry held that the city engineer, as he understood it, was responsible for grading work, curbing and similar street work. Where such work becomes intricate, the mayor said, the city engineer is called in.

Debate About Sewer

Perry, who had charged that expenditure of $16,000 for a sewer project on Gill street, was a waste of money and that the street superintendent was negligent there, held that if Steuding had thoroughly investigated a condition at a manhole, remedial action would have cost less.

Steuding contended that conditions mentioned by Perry were not fully made known to him. As for the claim that 47 inches of asphalt was found around the manhole to compensate for repeated sinking of the road, Steuding said that insofar as he knew, some of that could have been put there while he was serving with the armed forces in the European Theatre.

Discuss Fee

City Engineer Hallinan, asked by Alderman Roth to explain a reported $20,000 engineering fee item for work in the Pearl street extension, Wilkie avenue, Ringtop road area, indicated that he could not see how the figure was obtained at this time.

Such figures, he said, generally are not available until nine months after work is completed, and for the work mentioned they are not due until May and July.

However, Hallinan indicated, cost for the work mentioned would be far from excessive. They will amount to 4.3 per cent of full cost.

No Report on Salaries

"That's quite an indicator," he said, because engineering fees to day generally run eight per cent. At Alderman Roth's suggestion, City Engineer Hallinan explained in private later the fee procedure to 12th ward residents.

IBM Contributes $110,000 to Aid Community Cause

The Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing and Residence Building Fund campaign has passed the $270,000 mark.

Additional pledges of $118,165 reported at the kick-off meeting of the general (residential) phase last night at the municipal auditorium brought the $400,000 campaign to $271,390—67.4 per cent of the goal.

Edward K. Lefren, works manager of the Port Ewen plant of Hercules Powder Company and chairman of the Corporate Advance Gifts Division, acknowledged a pledge of $110,000 by the International Business Machines Corporation.

Community Needs Recognized

Robert P. Crago, of the local IBM organization, said that IBM's contribution to the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing and Residence Building Fund campaign was in keeping with the company's policy of meeting its responsibilities in the community by assisting in the improvement of local hospital facilities.

He further stated that the IBM Corporation was "very much aware of the important services rendered by local hospitals not only to the company's employees and their families, but also to the area population."

Mr. Lefren said the Corporate Advance Gifts Division is hoping to reach a goal of $200,000. To date, it has secured pledges for $142,050. Companies, large and small, are contributing their fair share to the program, Lefren added.

Last night's meeting was attended by approximately 275 persons, the majority of whom will begin today to solicit individuals for pledges to the campaign.

Encourages Solicitors

"You are the sinews of the campaign," said Judge John M. Cashin of the United States District Court.

Falling Steel Orders Indicate Auto Trouble

New York, Jan. 9 (P)—Steel orders from Detroit auto makers are falling below expectations, causing some steel producers to worry, The Iron Age, weekly metal working magazine, reported today.

"The effect on steel depends on where you sit," the magazine stated. "Some mills say their auto business is holding up. Others say they are taking a beating. Overall, it's not so bad as some reports seem to indicate."

Iron Age said the sales picture in Detroit is "blowing hot and cold" and some dealers are running into price resistance on medium-priced cars. "If this keeps up," it added, "there may be some pencil-sharpening on medium-priced cars."

Yerry Chairman Of Local Housing Authority Again

At a meeting of the Kingston Housing Authority Tuesday night, George E. Yerry Jr. was reelected chairman for the ensuing year.

Mr. Yerry, who is president of the Hudson Valley Council of Carpenters, has held the post since 1954. He was recently reappointed by Mayor Frederick H. Stang to serve until Nov. 29, 1961 on the Authority.

Other officers chosen to serve again were Max Mones, vice chairman; George Chilson, treasurer; John De Gasperi, assistant treasurer and James J. DeCicco, secretary.

Secretary DeCicco, a patient at the Benedictine, was not present for the meeting.

Special City Judge Harry Gold was reappointed as counsel by the Authority.

Alexander Yosman, who has been manager for the Colonial Gardens housing project on Flatbush avenue, since 1953, was complimented for his efficiency.

The Kingston housing project has a rating as being one of the best operated in the state.

Ward Store Manager Burns Is New President of Area C of C

Vincent R. Burns was elected president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce for 1957 at the annual meeting of the board of directors Tuesday night in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

He succeeds George J. Silkworth. Mr. Burns is manager of the Montgomery Ward store on North Front street. He has been associated with Wards for the past 25 years. He is a member and director of the Kingston Lions Club and is vice president of the Uptown Businessmen's Association.

Robert L. Sabin, William J. O'Reilly and Louis R. Netter were elected vice presidents and William R. Stall, treasurer.

Manager Albert Kurdt was designated as secretary of the board of directors. The five officers will constitute the executive committee.

A resolution recommended by the recently created Planning Council, asking the mayor of the City of Kingston to invite area representatives to a second conference to consider the creation of an official area planning body, was unanimously approved. It was also suggested that every effort be made to take advantage of any state or federal funds which are available or which may become available to cover the costs involved.

Another portion of the resolution asked the mayor and Council.

Tax Cut, Spending Theme of Message To N.Y. Lawmakers

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 9 (P)—Gov. Harriman proposed to the Legislature today a program calling for tax cuts, multi-million-dollar boosts in state spending and an end to "government behind closed doors."

The Democratic governor said in his third annual message to the Republican-controlled Legislature that he was planning slashes in the state income and small-business taxes.

Will Be in Budget

He did not spell out his plans, however, but left them for his budget message, which will be submitted Feb. 1.

At the same time he urged a 350-million-dollar expansion of the state university, an eight-million increase in state scholarships and a 50-million housing bond issue.

His message translated Harriman's professed "Jeffersonian" political philosophy into 1957 action. The governor, running for re-election in 1958, recommended many things sought by many groups of voters.

Other Recommendations

1. Final legislative approval of the proposed 250-million-dollar bond issue for expansion of the state university and a 100-million program of new university construction.

2. Substantial increase in monthly benefits from workmen's compensation and from unemployment and sickness disability insurance.

3. Renewal of rent control for two years and tightening of the rent-control law.

4. Final legislative approval of a constitutional amendment that would legalize bingo on a local-option basis.

5. A state-operated fund to indemnify persons injured in automobile accidents not covered by the new compulsory insurance law.

Harriman's message hammered away at the theme that government should be brought closer to the people.

Wants Major Reforms

In line with this objective, he proposed major reforms in the legislative and electoral processes. The most significant of these called for some kind of primary election — coupled with the current convention system — of choosing candidates for state-wide office.

Harriman said his administration already had opened up "processes of government which have

New Supermarket In Saugerties Is Opened Today

Grand Union opened its newest supermarket in the northern division today on Market street, Saugerties. It is the first supermarket opened by the Grand Union chain since the beginning of the year.

The new market occupies 13,500 square feet of space. Completely conditioned, it features the latest food industry innovations. Gravity operated Food-O-Mat and Drug-O-Mat units which automatically dispense merchandise are part of the installation. A grand Union feature in the meat department is that the meat wrappers are in full view of the shoppers. Customers are thus able to see all meat items being wrapped.

All store employees have undergone extensive training in Grand Union store operation procedures.

Like other Grand Union stores, the interior of the market has a distinctive color scheme for each of its five major departments.

Refrigerated gravity conveyors for processed meat, extra wide aisles and a parking lot ready to accommodate many customers are among other features.

Customers of the new market will receive "Triple-S" blue stamps for all purchases except alcoholic beverages and tobacco.

40 Acres Is Called Best Spot Garage, Offices Going on Locale

The Ulster County Board of Supervisors Tuesday evening approved a site near the tuberculosis hospital on which to erect the proposed county building. The county owns approximately 40 acres in the area.

Approval was also given for a new county garage and administration building in the same locality.

To Engage Architect

A revision of plans formulated in 1945 under the Post-War Planning committee, was recommended by the present Committee on County Buildings and authority to proceed with the architect in preparation of final plans and specifications for construction was given the committee.

The committee was also authorized to retain an architect and prepare plans and specifications for a Highway Department building to be located in the same area. The resolution, which was adopted by a party vote, also provides for necessary funds for the buildings after final plans have been approved by the board of supervisors.

Becomes Parking Lot

In 1946 Teller and Halverson were engaged as architects under the Post-War Planning Committee and plans for a county building on the former Eagle Hotel site, Main street, were considered. That property was acquired by the county and presently is used as a parking grounds.

The present County Building Committee, appointed in February, 1955, in its report stated the Main street site was considered, also the John and Crown street site back of the court house and the County Infirmary property on Flatbush avenue.

Traffic conditions and removal of needed parking facilities caused the Main street and John street sites to be rejected.

The Infirmary location was discarded due to a traffic problem created by a grade crossing over the West Shore tracks.

Called Best Site

The county owned land of over 40 acres off the Boulevard was selected as the better location, easily accessible from all parts of the county and out of traffic where ample parking is available.

In a report the committee called attention to the fact that the recommended site is but three or four minutes from the court house by car, ample space for the building is available and it will not be necessary to buy any additional land.

To Cut Frills

The committee recommended simplification of the old plans and that the architect, Harry Halverson, successor to the original architect firm, "eliminate some of the ornamentation, so that we will have a good, functional building without some of the elaborate fixtures which are shown in the specifications and drawings."

A new central county building is necessary because of demands for additional facilities and will also eliminate "the present hodge-podge of county offices scattered throughout the city," the committee comments.

County garage facilities on Gage street are "inadequate" and inefficient and the committee recommended consolidation of the garage facilities and the

Purchasing Agent, Council Committee On Assessments Proposed on Tuesday

Proposed authorization of a city purchasing agent was left with Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy for preparation of an ordinance, and a permanent committee on assessments was named at last night's recessed Common Council meeting.

The purchasing agent as proposed by Alderman Richard V. Roth, (R) 12th ward would consolidate purchases of all departments of city government, and the permanent assessment committee as proposed by George F. McArdle, (R) 13th ward, would be watchful of assessment practices to prevent recurrences of assessment problems which led to last year's reassessment project.

Roth's proposal was first presented as a resolution, and when it was noted that its provisions appeared to conflict with those in the city charter, it was decided to refer it to the laws and rules committee which left it with the corporation counsel for preparation. Members of the committee indicated they were hopeful of action on the proposal in February.

Alderman-at-Large John J. Schwenk named Alderman Edwin Radel, (D) third ward; James P. Norton, Jr., (R) sixth ward, and Alderman McArdle as the permanent assessment committee.

McArdle's resolution noted the $50,000 authorized for last year's reassessment program "in its entirety." This he said might have been spent for some other, or a number of other city improvements.

Negligences which led to the need for reassessment, McArdle indicated in the resolution, "could not be attributed to any single operation or function of city government," but instead was "a combination of many accumulated over a period of years."

To prevent recurrences he asked the council president to name the committee to be in touch with the assessor's office, the permanent assessment committee.

Relyea Back as Chairman; Party Leaders Are Named

Charles Relyea, (R) Hurley was reelected chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors at an organizational meeting Tuesday. His election is for one year.

Clerk Robert A. Snyder called the meeting to order, called for selection of a temporary chairman and Peter Williams of Saugerties was named by Supervisor Fitzsimmons of Woodstock. Supervisors Eckert and Gaffney escorted Williams to his temporary post.

Supervisor Percy Bush of Ulster (R) nominated Relyea, stressing the need for time required of the chairman for county affairs and of the qualifications of Relyea and his "proven ability" during the past year.

Supervisor Burton Marshall (D) Rochester was nominated by Supervisor John C. Quimby (D) Marlborough.

On the vote Relyea received 16 votes and Marshall 12, a party vote. Marshall moved to make the election unanimous. Supervisor Marshall and Fitzsimmons were named a committee to escort Relyea to the chair. Relyea thanked the board for the honor paid a tribute to the cooperation of the board during the past year and referred to the ability of

State Projects On Power Asked By Harriman

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 9 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today urged the Legislature again to request Congress to permit state development of a hydroelectric project on the Niagara river.

"Another year has gone by without the federal action which is necessary for the development of the great power resources of the Niagara river," the governor said in his annual message.

Harriman noted that legislative leaders of both parties agreed with him two months ago to advance $350,000 to the State Power Authority for engineering work.

"I trust that this agreement is the forerunner of united support in Congress for the needed authorization," Harriman asserted.

Killed in Senate
The U. S. Senate approved public development by the Power Authority last year. That bill died in the House of Representatives.

In 1953, the House passed a bill authorizing five private utilities to undertake the project. The bill was lost in the Senate in the continuing battle over private-versus-public power.

Meanwhile, Rep. Miller (R-NY) who backed a bill for private construction, said he was reversing his position and drafting compromise legislation that would permit the state to build the project. His measure will stipulate that the state may not construct transmission lines duplicating existing private utility lines.

The FPC said it did not have jurisdiction because of a 1950 treaty reservation that provides that Congress should determine how Niagara power is developed. The Power Authority argued that the provision was unconstitutional. It said Niagara power development was a matter of domestic concern and not properly a subject of an international Treaty.

Canada Is Started
The 1950 treaty divided Niagara river water between the United States and Canada for power purposes. Canada has begun development.

Harriman renewed his request to "broaden and clarify" the authority's powers. This would include giving the authority the legal right to erect or acquire transmission lines to conduct electricity from the source to the buyer. Such a bill died in committee in the 1956 session.

Concerning St. Lawrence power, Harriman said the authority was making "good progress" in developing the massive project. Harriman pointed out that Barnhart island generators would grind out the first electricity in 1958—a year ahead of schedule. He said also that a "splendid" park development was underway.

Orange County Girl's Death Being Probed

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 9 (AP)—Police pressed a search for clues today in their efforts to solve the mysterious death of a pretty young hospital secretary found shot in the back near the University of Rochester Library Monday night.

Katherine Alice Kramer, 23, of Blooming Grove, Orange county, was found dead on a sidewalk near the university by passersby shortly after she had returned some books to the library.

A 22-caliber bullet had struck her in the back and pierced her lung and heart. There were no signs of a struggle.

Police said yesterday they could find no motive for the killing and were not yet certain that it was a murder.

Former Nazi Is Seen Wielding His Right-Wing

Bonn, Germany, Jan. 9 (AP)—A former Nazi from the Saar joins the West German Parliament tomorrow and likely will wield a strong right-wing influence.

He is Heinrich Schneider, one of 10 deputies from the Saar taking seats as representatives of the new German state.

German politicians have been watching Schneider closely since the Saar's 1955 plebiscite that wrecked a plan to "Europeanize" the area. Schneider, more than any other person, welded the pro-German parties in the Saar into a powerful "German fatherland front" to fight the plan.

When they started, their campaign looked hopeless. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer had personally endorsed the plan. The Saar premier, Johannes Hoffmann, controlled the government and a powerful political machine.

Schneider advocated a head-on attack against Adenauer and Hoffmann. His forces were thrown off balance by mobs of pro-German Saarlanders trying to storm meetings.

When the votes were in, "Europeanization" was buried.

Schneider controls the Saar Democratic party, which advocates policies similar to those of the right-wing Free Democrats in West Germany. These include closer German ties with the Soviet Union and Communist China.

Sources in a position to know say Schneider is thinking of expanding his Saar party into a national party in West Germany—or making an alliance with the Free Democrats or the rightist German party.

With a national election just nine months away, he has little time to found a grass roots organization to get out the votes.

But Schneider, massive and youthful looking, is packed with energy. In the Saarland his party is heavily financed. He is a skilled orator and a first-rate organizer.

He started his Nazi party career as chief of its special Saar parliament, then helped organize the campaign to win the area back for Nazi Germany in the 1935 plebiscite which ended League of Nations control of the long-disputed border valley.

Schneider later was shifted to Hitler's interior ministry. An attorney also, he was expelled from the Nazi party for defending Jewish, Socialist and Labor Union clients and returned to the Saar to practice law. When France took it over after World War II, he started campaigning again.

Editors Say Hays Right in Opposing Exclusion of Press

Utica, N. Y., Jan. 9 (AP)—The president of the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors, says Rep. Wayne Hays of Ohio was "absolutely right" to leave a congressional hearing in protest over exclusion of press and public.

Charles A. King III, managing editor of the Utica Observer-Dispatch, said in a telegram to Hays yesterday that "government by secrecy cannot be tolerated."

King told the congressman: "Too many public officials from municipal to federal government use questionable tactics to justify doing the public's business behind closed doors."

Hays, a Democrat, left a hearing yesterday on President Eisenhower's Middle East manifesto.

The representative said "I don't think the State Department and Secretary of State Dulles should be able to tell the American people that everything is lovely in public and then go behind closed doors and tell what grave dangers there are."

Dulles, who testified at the hearing, said, without the secrecy, matters involving national security could not have been discussed.

About 6,500,000 persons are engaged in manufacturing, selling, servicing and using motor trucks in the United States.

SIZING UP THE SENATE

In the next two years the United States Senate may possibly show a slightly stronger liberal bend than it has in recent times. But if it does, it will hardly be because new blood has altered its basic character.

The 1956 elections brought Senate changes that amount to less than 10 per cent of its total personal of 96. Had all nine new senators been liberals, the effect still would have been small. But some are not.

There are five new Democrats, four of whom ousted Republican incumbents or, in the case of Colorado, a man trying to inherit a GOP seat. All four Republican newcomers won formerly Democratic seats.

Of the five Democratic winners, two must be classed as definitely conservative: Sen. Herman Talmadge of Georgia, who replaces the elderly Walter George, and Sen. Frank Lausche, long-time Ohio governor.

The other three fit the liberal category: Senators Frank Church of Idaho, John Carroll of Colorado, and Joseph Clark of Pennsylvania. But it must be considered questionable how much impact these freshmen can exert upon the strongly entrenched conservatives who hold most of the key Senate posts.

On the Republican side, Sen. Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia, starting his second tour of Senate duty, joins the conservative assemblage. Winners Jacob Javits of New York and John Sherman Cooper and Thruston Morton of Kentucky belong in the Eisenhower liberal-conservative mold. But, again, their numbers do not suggest they alone can sway the GOP Senate forces.

On its face, the new membership should be roughly a duplicate of the old. It will have the same Democratic leadership, and not too many changes in committee management.

Should the end result prove to be the adoption of a somewhat more liberal approach to national legislation, the credit will probably go to President Eisenhower.

This, if it happens, will not likely be because he is more liberal than he was in his first term. The difference is that he is stronger, as a consequence of his more emphatic 1956 victory at the polls.

Much has been made in both 1952 and 1956 of the fact that the voters did not give Mr. Eisenhower's Republican party heavy endorsement. But it should not be overlooked that the voters have also withheld warm endorsement from the Democrats, even while handing them control of Congress. Democratic margins in 1954 and 1956 were spectacularly slender.

The big fact is that the President commands far more popular confidence and respect than either party. That is the thing which may work in 1957 and 1958 to bend Congress a bit toward the liberal end of the spectrum.

THE PRINCIPAL DIFFERENCE

The year 1956 will set many marks in business performance, as has been well noted. Not the least among the memorable items is the fact that generally high levels of output were attained despite the fact the two major business props—auto production and housing—were well below old peaks.

It used to be thought—with evident good reason—that a U. S. economy suffering any measurable decline in those two fields could not really prosper.

That time may have gone by.
Not that general business would not feel a heavy blow if auto and housing output went into a severe tailspin. Both industries have wide impact because of their use of a great range of materials.

But fairly substantial declines obviously can be offset nowadays. The American market is bigger and more varied than ever in history. It draws on new metals, new chemicals, many another product virtually unknown a decade or two ago.

And consumer "necessities" have been

PASSPORTS AND NEWSMEN

The difficulties in which three newspapermen are liable to find themselves because they went into Red China without proper visas by the State Department must again raise the question as to what a passport really is.

Is it a letter of identification? If so, why bother to get one from the government? A newspaper could issue such a letter stating, with a photograph, that So and So is an employee and please be kind to him, etc., etc.

Or is the passport a contractual document between governments, validated by treaties and agreements? If so, what is the consideration and what are the limitations?

I think the newspapermen would have been fully within their rights had they deposited their passports with the American Consul General in Hongkong, gone into Red China on their own steam without involving the Government of the United States in any documentary relationship with a government that it does not recognize and with whom it has no existing treaties or agreements. When these men returned to Hongkong, they could pick up their passports at the consulate.

In time of war, many countries are out of bounds and many citizens are regarded as unsuited for travel abroad. In wartime we accept such restrictions as of the very nature of war. What is too often disregarded is that peace has not yet been attained and that many of the abridgements of human rights continue as though the world were still at war. It is easy for the ardent to flout restrictions and embarrass his government; his responsibility may be that he imperils the chance of an earlier attainment of the objectives of diplomacy.

It may also be true that the whole matter is unimportant one way or the other. I wonder if any of the three who went in can speak any dialect of Chinese; if not, they can only talk to English-speaking officials. If one of them knows enough Mandarin for a curbside conversation, he will learn more by listening to street sounds than by interviewing Mao Tze-tung himself.

But all this is beside the point. What is needed is an act of Congress defining the passport, its purpose and its limitation, who is entitled to such a document, who is not, what are the obligations of the holder of a passport, what are the penalties for violation of its provisions. Unless the law is more specific than at present, the passport will degenerate into a letter of identification.

John Bassett Moore, in his monumental work on International Law defines a passport as "the accepted international evidence of nationality." Another definition is cited by Hackworth in his "Digest of International Law": "The American passport is a document of identity and nationality issued to persons owing allegiance to the United States and intending to travel or sojourn in foreign countries. It indicates that it is the right of the bearer to receive the protection and good offices of American diplomats and consular officers abroad and requests on the part of the Government of the United States that the officials of foreign governments permit the bearer to travel or sojourn in their territories and in case of need to give him all lawful aid and protection. It has no other purpose."

The Government of the United States has maintained that the physical document, the passport, is its property. It has been held that "the money paid for a passport is a fee or tax, rather than purchase price."

As one reads the material on this subject it is obvious that the passport has a long and at times confused history and that passports have been subject to fraud and counterfeiting. The Secretary of State is the sole official of the United States who may issue a passport, or delegate that authority to another, such as an ambassador or a consular officer. As the law stands, it is not mandatory for the Secretary of State to issue a passport but he does so at his discretion. Until recent years, this interpretation of the law was not questioned, nor was there any doubt that the Secretary of State could withdraw a passport. As both these functions have become clouded by judicial obiter dicta, it is up to Congress to pass an act clarifying the entire situation.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
PHYSICAL FITNESS FOR ALL

What is meant by physical fitness? Lately that term has been uppermost in the minds of all Americans for many reasons. Coronary disease is prevalent in both men and women. Statistics indicate the lack of fitness in the American boy and girl; the school products of physical education fail to concentrate on the physical development of all students and emphasize instead the few who are well-skilled in athletics; and the American people continue to prefer being spectators instead of participants in sports. All this points to the necessity of re-educating the public to the importance of a well-conditioned body.

In an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. R. J. Kiphuth, Yale University, tells us that to be physically fit an individual must have a good capacity for performance and endurance, sound physique and smooth functioning organs, and adequate muscular strength; strength, speed, agility and endurance must be a part of each individual's life.

Eard maximum fitness whether the future holds war or peace, a soft life or a hard life. The individual can go only so far as the capacity he possesses, so that the greater his fitness and his ability, the more life's doors will be open to him. Fitness to enjoy life to its fullest—physically, emotionally and spiritually—is the fitness that each individual really wants.

Too many people have neglected to engage in regular systematic exercise. Few men (except when there is a war at hand) make an effort to reach and maintain top physical condition. Only the 10 or 15 per cent of boys and young men in the secondary schools and colleges who are out for varsity teams get in fairly good condition. The other 85 or 90 per cent, as a rule, do not attain a high degree of physical fitness.

The percentage of Americans and Canadians who lack this high degree of physical fitness becomes much higher when we limit our study to men and women over 30 years of age. Although the United States and Canada are known as the lands of sports, there is not a widespread intensive participation in sports on the part of the majority. A visit to any of our large bathing beaches during the summer will reveal thousands of individuals clad in bathing suits and lying on the sand, but few of them actually swimming. Probably many of them do not know how to swim and of those who do, a swim of 10 to 15 yards at a time is the usual limit.

Then, too, there are many sports spectacles in our country, but except for the few players, there is not much exercise taking place. So it is clear that too many people function below their normal capacity. It seems essential that, if we desire to get the most out of life, we must learn to increase the demands on the body and develop greater power, strength, and endurance for sustained effort. We must work for poise and skill in the use of our bodies.

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—Promoting "People's Capitalism" as the antidote for Marxist world communism has been given a few trial runs by U. S. Information Agency and has come off pretty well.

The name "People's Capitalism" as applied to the U. S. economic system, has been literally translated into "Everyman's Capitalism" in German, "Capitalism of the People" in Italian and "Democratic Capitalism" in Spanish.

The "People's Capitalism" concept has been a little over a year in developing. Theodore S. Repplier, president of the Advertising Council, has been its principal promoter.

The first "People's Capitalism" exhibit was set up for a preview in the Washington Union Station concourse last summer. It was an elaborate three-dimensional job covering 15,000 square feet of floor space.

President Eisenhower, 10,000 government people and the traveling public in general previewed it and made suggestions for improving it. There was considerable public argument as to whether it was good or bad.

MAIN ATTRACTIONS of the exhibit were, first, a couple of rooms to show how Americans lived in colonial times. Then for contrast there was a whole pre-fabricated all-steel rambler, complete with automobile, TV and mechanical kitchen, to show how Americans can live today in a $15,000 mortgaged home.

In between were a lot of big photographs, charts and show cards in big type. They explained how America advanced by greater use of machinery in place of hand tools and by the investment of the peoples' savings in private business enterprises. This developed the U. S. economy and raised the standard of living.

This exhibit was finally modified in many places and prepared for the international road. It has just had its first showing in Bogota, Colombia, and it has done all right.

A replica of Lincoln's log cabin has replaced the too-interior or decorated colonial home of the original exhibit. This substitution makes the contrast with modern, prefabricated living all the greater. And it shortens the time element in which the U. S. developed from a backwoods frontier to whatever it is now.

THE PRE-FAB HOUSE exhibit proved so popular in Bogota that it couldn't accommodate the crowds. This problem was solved by taking the roof off the house and building a ramp around it at ceiling height. That let the people walk up and look down into every room and all its gadgets.

Repplier, just back from Bogota where he went to see how his brain child was coming along, reports 235,000 Colombians saw the exhibit.

Colombian schools and colleges sent professor and classes to see the exhibit and write economic reports and themes about it. The idea of "Capitalism Democratico," as they called it, caused a lot of discussion and was the big hit of the trade fair.

Bogota newspapers and radio also gave "People's Capitalism"

good plugs. Said the newspaper "La Republica":

"Compared with the gigantic transformation brought about by Capitalismo Democratico . . . communism appears as an insignificant process kept in motion only by useless cruelty."

THIS WAS JUST the idea USA wanted to put over.

The "People's Capitalism" exhibit will open next at a trade fair in Mexico City. Then it will be sent on tour to other trade fairs in Latin America.

A smaller "People's Capitalism" exhibit which will take less floor space and can be shown in small halls is now being put together by USA for use in other parts of the world. It uses scale models of the log cabin and the pre-fab, with dioramas and illuminated color transparencies in place of the three-dimensional displays.

A typical suggested showcard says: "Karl Marx predicted that the rich would get richer and the poor would get poorer. But history proves that did not happen in the U. S. A. On the contrary, the percentage of the very rich and the very poor has steadily declined while the middle class has grown larger and larger . . . America is becoming classless."

That's one of the main themes of the "People's Capitalism" idea, and its pitch to block communism.

New York, Jan. 8—Pat Hurley's political memories are out in a biography, written by Don Lohbeck and published by Henry Regnery of Chicago whose "list" usually is either ignored by the "literary" police or smeared in malicious reviews and hidden under the counters of the book-stores. Great authors of the time, John Gunther and John Roy Carlson, for examples, are acclaimed in the reviews and their works are flaunted in the window-displays of the shops.

Hurley's bill of particulars against the Roosevelt and Truman administrations with extensions into the Republican regime of the last four years is composed of stuff called trial material. The overall indictment has lain in the filing cabinets of oblivion for ten years. In detail, Hurley adds much to the case against the machine which betrayed the United States to Soviet Russia in Asia and about it crossed Chiang Kai-shek, but it never will be toward the close, Lohbeck says toward the close, the truth and reclamation of the principles of American government.

Hurley became convinced toward the end of his embassy in China that Truman and Jimmy Byrnes, then secretary of state, were "responsible for Communists obtaining information from his secret reports." But When Byrnes came back from the Moscow conference, however, Hurley decided that he had a moral and patriotic duty to fight for repudiation of the perfidies agreed to in the alcoholic fog of the calculated Russian orgies in Yalta. But the propaganda machine of the administration and the pro-Communist cliques had now persuaded the public mind that Hurley's charges were mere personal complaints.

Some Americans said to Hurley now, "if only you had exposed the secret agreement, things would have been different, you should have appealed to the American people." But, looking backward, Hurley replies that even if he had revealed the provisions of Yalta, nothing would have happened. When, in 1956, the betrayal which condemned young Americans of that time to death in Korea was made public, "scarcely a ripple appeared." The American people didn't care.

This story requires more mental concentration that it can receive from a people whose expenditures on public "education" stand in appalling contrast to their capacity to study books without sex and mentally to resist the diversions of the new Republicanism. There are a hundred such on the shelves, but, Hurley sadly concluded, the American people just don't care.

The man has been a fighter all his life but like many other great warriors for principle he has never won a fight.

Frankness of Sen. Knowland Announcement Given Praise

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 9—Politics and the ambition of men to serve in high office sometimes lead them to surrender convictions to expediency or to resort to artificial ways of seeking to gain prestige. It is, therefore, refreshing to note the forthright way in which Senator William Knowland of California, at present Republican leader of the Senate, has announced a year ahead of time that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the Senate in 1958.

This gives Mr. Knowland the opportunity to steer an independent course in the present session—to express himself in support of Administration policies when he agrees with them and to dissent when he feels impelled to do so. The post of Senate leader was never intended to be a "rubber-stamp" affair. Both in the Democratic and Republican parties in the Senate during the last half century, the elected leader has reserved the right to transfer to a committee chairman or to a deputy leader the task of guiding an Administration measure through the Senate when he feels conscientiously a difference of opinion. The late Senator Barkley in 1944 differed with President Roosevelt on an important tax bill and, when a veto came, the Kentucky Senator resigned his leadership position—only to be re-elected by an almost unanimous vote of the party in the Senate in one of the most striking examples of a vote of confidence to a Senate leader that has ever been witnessed.

His Constituency

For a United States Senator does not cease to represent his own constituency just because he happens to be elected leader of his party. Senator Knowland, for example, must vote as he thinks the people of California want him to vote or as he himself feels he should, even though it may not seem on the surface to be popular.

But behind the announcement of Senator Knowland that he doesn't intend to run for the Senate again is no circumstance in any way related to differences he may have now or here had with the Eisenhower administration. In fact, he has supported the President's position on major policies more frequently than any of the so-called conservatives in either party. Also, if he nurtures any Presidential ambitions of his own for 1960—after possibly a period in the Governor's chair in California—it would serve no useful purpose for him to be known in the political world as a dissenter from the Eisenhower policies. Whoever is nominated in 1960 for the Presidency on the Republican ticket will have to run on the Eisenhower record anyway or else be in the position of offering an alternative that necessarily implies a divided Republicanism.

Called Presidential Timber

Mr. Knowland is one of the most conscientious men who ever entered public life. He candidly says what he thinks and is not given to wishy-washy statements of evasion so common in present-day politics. He is unquestionably a Presidential timber. He has the mind of a great statesman, for he is not unwilling to risk popular disapproval again and again by expressing himself forthrightly in accordance with deep-seated convictions.

This correspondent has not discussed with Senator Knowland his recent announcement or his reasons for making it at this time. But from a knowledge of the California Senator's record in public life it is natural to conclude that he didn't want to wait to make his announcement until early in 1958 and in the interim give the impression that he had not made up his mind. He preferred to let other candidates for the Senate seat in California know far in advance that the field is open.

Will Mr. Knowland try for the Presidential nomination in 1960? To answer that question requires an answer to another one—what will the political situation be in 1960? Will the Administration have proved popular? Will the public want a change? Will Vice-President Nixon, if considered a logical nominee for the Presidency, represent in the public mind a continuance of Eisenhower policies, and will the voters want him or some one else who has somewhat differing views on major issues? To put it another way, maybe the country three - and - a - half years from now will be in a far more conservative mood than it is today. Maybe the international situation will have created issues that could conceivably affect the trend in the next Presidential election.

Political Future

It is too early to appraise the 1960 outlook except to note that for Mr. Knowland there is no political future here in remaining as Republican leader of the Senate. He will have accomplished all he can as a Senate leader and will have obtained invaluable experience for the future if he should be chosen as the Republican Presidential nominee in 1960 or thereafter, for he is only forty-eight years old now.

But if Mr. Knowland wants to be in the next Presidential contest, he will have to run for and be elected Governor of California—the second largest state in the Union now. Also, if Thomas E. Dewey wants to be in the 1960 race, he will have to run against Governor Harriman and win the Governorship of New York State in 1958. A Governorship, after all, is a stepping stone to the Presidential nomination more frequently than is a leadership post in Congress.

He recalls a personal physical challenge by John L. Lewis who touched off the Herrin massacre with a telegram from a point 1,000 miles away and won renown as a pugnacious fellow by a sneak punch to the jawy facade of Bill Hutcheson, the senile president of the Carpenters' Union, which didn't even knock that old man down.

At a "labor" hearing of the NRA, Lewis called Hurley "a Judas who betrayed the union of his youth for 30 lousy pieces of silver." Hurley represented, as attorney, a corporate mining interest. Pat demanded an apology and Lewis retracted the word "lousy."

Hurley jumped up and said: "It is true that I am an ex-coal-miner and that I have known Lewis. And as long as I can remember he has had his ample abdomen up against the pie counter of organized labor. John Lewis is a trade unionist for revenue only. If the miners stopped paying him tonight they would be deprived of his services tomorrow."

"Furiously," Lohbeck writes, "Lewis heaved to his feet and started across the room. 'Look out,' someone shouted to Hurley. 'He's going to strike you.'"

Hurley stood still. "John Lewis knows," he said, "that if he touches me with his little finger, he'll wake up in hell!"

Coin Collectors

Dillwyn, Va. (AP)—Yeggs who robbed a safe may attract some attention if they try to dispose of the loot. The haul included a set of Cuban coins, several United States 2-cent pieces, some nickels thicker than those in use today, a number of large U. S. pennies, 100 Indian head pennies and about 20 very old silver dollars. C. I. Poole, owner of the general merchandise store which was robbed, valued the odd coin collection at $200.

Community Players Slate 'Dimes' Benefit

Woodstock, Jan. 8—At Sunday's meeting of the Woodstock Community Players, plans were completed for the forthcoming benefit performance for the March of Dimes show to be held at the Woodstock School Friday and Saturday, Feb. 1 and 2.

In view of the short rehearsal time, schedules will be rigid and Mrs. Elaine Funk, director of the group, urges promptness. The two one act plays to be presented will be alternately rehearsed in order that members of the two casts will not be on call every night. The regular Tuesday night meetings will be for all members as there will be criticism and special coaching on these nights. Further information concerning the rehearsal schedule may be obtained by calling Mrs. Funk or Mrs. Kiki Godwin.

Those participating are urged to make careful note of the rehearsal schedules to avoid any confusion.

The one act plays will be a mystery and a melodrama on the style of the famous East Lynne. Details will be announced later.

To Organize Christian Education Council

Woodstock, Jan. 8—A number of Protestant ministers serving churches within Ontario Central School District as well as some laymen met in Phoenixia at the Methodist parsonage for the purpose of drawing up constitution and by-laws for the operation of the Council of Christian Education.

The program has been making use of the privileges of release time religious education provided by the education laws of the state. The result of these deliberations will be presented at a meeting in Mt. Tremper Reformed Church Saturday, Feb. 23, at 6 p. m.

Every Protestant church within the area will be asked to have at least two representatives in attendance as well as the ministers serving these churches. The evening will begin with a covered dish supper to be served in the church hall. It is also suggested that each unit provide its own table service to lighten the matter of dish-washing at the close. Hot coffee and tea will be provided by the host church.

Chorale Will Offer Layman Music Training

Woodstock, Jan. 8—The musical director of the Woodstock Chorale, Hanus A. Schimmerling, announces a significant innovation in its activities for the coming season.

Part of every session will be devoted to a "layman's approach to music reading." This training will undoubtedly make the singers more conscious of the principles of reading music and will materially add to their pleasure in singing. Mr. Schimmerling said.

Many area residents will be able to avail themselves of this unique opportunity to enjoy singing in a chorus and at the same time add to their musical knowledge. The Chorale, a part of the Adult Education program, meets regularly every Thursday evening at the Studio (behind the Grand Union) in Woodstock. All interested are cordially invited to join.

P-TA Group Will Hear Consolidation Proposal

Woodstock, Jan. 8—The question of Greater Kingston Consolidation will be discussed at the regular meeting of the Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association meeting, Thursday, Jan. 10, at the Woodstock School at 8 p. m.

The speakers will be Daniel Morehouse, treasurer of the Union Free Ulster School District 4, and a member of the Lake Katrine Board of Education; Norman Hammond and Roy T. Feddes. Mr. Hammond is trustee of the Ulster Free School District 4, and Mr. Feddes is trustee of Ulster District School No. 3. There will be a moderator, to be announced and questions welcomed from the floor.

The executive committee of the Woodstock P-TA met on January 3.

Announce Methodist Services Scheduled

Woodstock, Jan. 8—The Rev. Garnett M. Wilder will preach a sermon titled "The Season of The Second Chance" in the churches of the Woodstock Methodist Parish, Sunday.

The sermon deals with the general idea of new beginning in the new year and applies it to the more specific understanding of new beginning and new life as understood by the Christian Faith.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Wilder and son, Bruce spent Christmas with their families in Georgia. The Rev. Mr. Wilder returned to his duties Jan. 4. Mrs. Wilder and Bruce remained in Georgia on an extended visit and will return to Woodstock about the 18th of January.

Reformed Church Lists Schedule of Services

Woodstock, Jan. 8—The sermon subject of the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, for Sunday at the 11 a. m. worship service in the Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church will be "Shaping Our Eternal Destiny Now." A nursery is maintained for younger children. Sunday school meets at 9:30 a. m.

The annual congregational meeting will be held Thursday, Jan. 17, preceded by a fellowship covered dish supper at 6:30 p. m. Reports will be given by the various organizations of the church, and the work for the coming year discussed and planning in advance done in general.

Craftsmen's Guild Offers New Classes

Woodstock, Jan. 8—Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen is organizing a number of new classes under its Adult Education program at the Guild Shop.

Joan Pond's classes in jewelry and enameling on metal started this week but new pupils may still enroll. Classes are held Mondays and Tuesdays, 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. The jewelry classes employ silver, copper and semi-precious stones in the creation of original designs, and the enameling class includes elementary and advanced instruction in the creative use of vitreous enamel.

So much enthusiasm was expressed for the autumn hooked rug class under Irene Snell that a new class is now being organized. Mrs. Snell is an authority in the realm of the old-fashioned hook technique and methods of dyeing. The early American hooked rug differs in many details from modern making methods, but Mrs. Snell's class learns the original technique.

Silk screen is also on the agenda for new classes under the able tutelage of Jerry Jerominek.

The registration fee is charged for any complete course consisting of 10 three hour lessons. Prospective students are asked to call at the Guild Shop for enrollment or further information.

Announce Art Sales

Woodstock, Jan. 8—The Guild Galleries of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen announces the sale of five pictures from the Christmas exhibition, one each by Gojia Webster, Valerie Swenson and Reginald Wilson and two by Earle Winslow.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Jan. 8—Mr. and Mrs. George Francis of Woodstock became the parents of a daughter, born Sunday, Jan. 6 at Kingston Hospital. The baby which weighed seven pounds, four ounces, has been named Georgette.

Mrs. Emma Goodrich returned to her home from Kingston Hospital, Saturday after five weeks, recovering from a broken hip.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hard will return February 1 to Woodstock after five years to rent the former Cousins home next to the Cousins store. The Cousins family has moved to their new home on Simmons lane.

Mrs. Jerry Jerominek and her daughter, Geraldine will leave for Florida January 25 and will return the first of March.

The following basketball games will be played on the court at the Woodstock School Friday night: Woodstock and High Falls at 7 p. m.; and Woodstock and Pine Plains at 8 p. m.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Hopeless Hand Well Played

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

South looked at the dummy carefully, cursed North under his breath, and then proceeded to make the best of a bad situation.

West's double clearly indicated bunched trumps, so trump finesses were not going to work. South needed to make as many trumps as possible by ruffing.

The queen of diamonds held the first trick, and a second diamond was led. South trumped and played the seven of hearts. West won with the ace and led a third diamond. South trumped, played his jack of hearts to dummy's king. He trumped a heart, cashed the ace and king of Clubs, and trumped dummy's last heart with the ten.

The lead of a low club forced West to trump his partner's trick and lead a spade up to declarer's ace-queen. South had succeeded in making all his six trumps and was down only one.

It was a shame to waste all that beautiful play in such a hopeless cause. The hand should have played at two spades.

North had no excuse for his two no-trump bid. True, his three kings made his initial response a good one, but a singleton of a suit rebid by partner is a liability, not an asset.

South was not guiltless either.

He had nice distribution but only 11 high-card points. Of course, North had bid twice, but his first response had clearly limited the strength of his hand.

Slave Revival
Hong Kong (AP)—The government recently uncovered the first case of "Mui Tsai"—sale of children for slavery—since the British authorities stamped out the ancient Chinese practice many years ago. A 14-year-old girl and her 10-year-old brother were kidnapped from their home, the Social Welfare Office reports and sold to an elderly farmer for 200 dollars (35 dollars U. S.).

The case had an odd ending. Welfare officers awarded the boy to the farmer after the youngster said he wanted to remain with the old man. The girl was returned to her parents.

CONSTIPATED?

new laxative discovery
un-locks bowel blocks
without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Woman Is Found Dead in Home

Mrs. Richard Burke, 33, of Atwood, was found lying dead on the floor of her bedroom shortly before noon Tuesday.

Coroner Francis J. McCordle, who was summoned, issued a verdict of death due to natural causes. He said an autopsy showed a pulmonary embolism.

Mrs. Burke, who is survived by her husband and a 10-year-old child, had complained earlier in the morning of not feeling well.

Stanley Barnak, who does odd jobs for the family, arrived at the house about 11 a. m., the coroner said. He found Mrs. Burke up and about the house but she told him she didn't feel well. A little later he returned to the house and found her lying on the floor of her bedroom.

Deputy Sheriff Arthur Smith of the Ulster county sheriff's office investigated with the coroner.

Funeral arrangements were not complete this morning.

mon Council to make provisions for the necessary funds to engage the service of qualified planning consultants.

A special committee, with Richard M. Kalish as chairman, was named to study the requirements and possibilities of establishing a State Community College in Ulster county.

An interim report by Manager Albert Kurdt indicated that the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce has 25 active committees. He said that a greater willingness on the part of substantial citizens to take a more active part in Chamber affairs was very evident and urged serious consideration to be given to the development of a still stronger program of work during the coming year.

January will be a very busy month for committees and the second annual Business-Education Day will take place on January 25.

A special committee will also be appointed to consider proposed changes in the by-laws relating to the election procedure. Many members reported that the system of open membership nominations was entirely too cumbersome.

Study Water Problem
Manager Kurdt called attention to the serious nature of the area water supply problem which could be critical within five or 10 years. The Area Development Committee was asked to consider this problem further and perhaps recommend some action which may be taken. He also called attention to the serious rental housing situation with many persons coming to the office reporting inability to find suitable apartments at reasonable prices. This is taking place in the face of an increasing number of inquiries from people seeking employment in the Kingston area.

The next meeting of the board of directors will take place on February 5 because of the conflict with the annual banquet on the regular date, February 12.

Working on Traffic

Two area problems receiving a great deal of attention at the present time by Chamber committees are off-street parking and traffic. Conferences with officials are being held and it is hoped that the serious congestion and delays can be eliminated.

Directors present last night included Arthur W. Buddenhagen, Vincent R. Burns, Robert P. Crago, Richard M. Kalish, Herbert C. Myers, Robert N. Nadler, Louis R. Netter, William J. O'Reilly, William E. Ryland, Howard C. St. John, Robert L. Sabin, George W. Schneider, George J. Silkworth, William R. Stall and Paul F. Steinkuller. In addition, Chester Diffley, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was also in attendance.

Eden drove to the palace in the limousine just after the break-up of an emergency cabinet meeting attended also by several non-cabinet ministers.

The British Press Assn. said an "official announcement is expected very shortly" regarding Eden's intentions.

Gaffney Outlines Suggestions to Board for 1957

A program and recommendations to the Board of Supervisors for 1957 was presented by John J. Gaffney, (D) minority leader of the board at the organization meeting.

Supervisor Eckert (R) Esopus, speaking for the Republicans in the absence of majority leader Jesse McHugh, who is recovering at his home in Wallkill from surgery, suggested a "continuation of good government" by the majority party, complimented the board for having carried out numerous of the recommendations made by McHugh in a recent program. He thanked the minority leader for cooperation during the past year in approving much important legislation and said criticism of delay in getting needed bridge work under way was not warranted.

He called attention to recent action by the board in getting bridge work under way on three important bridges and said this work would commence early this spring, perhaps in March.

Supervisor Gaffney expressed appreciation to the board for adoption of two-way radio for firemen, retention of the tuberculosis hospital, support of a resolution on highway safety by marking county roads and for penning a hearing on appointment of a mental health board.

He presented the following recommendations for 1957 by the Democratic members of the board:

(1) That the county auditor be made a real purchasing agent, and that all equipment, materials and supplies used by the County be purchased either on State contract, or as a result of competitive bidding;

(2) That the chairman of the Board of Supervisors instruct the committee on insurance to study the possibility of the county, towns, city and villages pooling their compensation insurance and operating as "Self-insured";

(3) That the chairman of the Board of Supervisors appoint a County Planning Commission to set up a general county plan which would coordinate the work and activities of town planning authorities;

(4) That a study be made of the Ulster Highway Department, and that the following possibilities be explored:

(a) The return of certain county highways to the towns in which they are situated;

(b) Plan for maintenance of county highways by town highway departments within the boundaries of each town, and the reimbursement of each township for such expenditures;

(c) Enlargement of the engineering division of the County Highway Department, and a more active part taken by that Department in the planning and engineering of town highways for the future.

"At an emergency meeting of the Board of Supervisors held in December of 1955, the Board authorized the issuance of bonds in excess of $2,000,000 for the replacement of obsolete county bridges. To date none of this money has been spent. When are these urgently needed bridges to be built?"

"In conclusion, we wholeheartedly thank the citizens of Ulster County who found it possible to attend some of our meetings, and gave support to our program recommendations in 1956. We hope and trust that so many taxpayers will show an interest in county government by attending County Board meetings in 1957 that the Board will be forced to seek larger quarters. We feel that the taxpayers of Ulster County are paying enough to receive, and to see that they receive, the best in County government."

Gasoline Tax Peeps Through Annual Message

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 9 (AP)—Gov. Harriman detailed for the Legislature today a vast highway-construction program. Between the lines of his annual message peeped the possibility of a gas tax increase.

He told the lawmakers that road-building contracts for 1956 were double that of any previous year and that the 1957 aim was "another large increase."

Stresses Revenue Importance
The 500-million-dollar bond issue approved by the voters last fall "will greatly assist us in arriving at this high level of construction activity," the governor said.

"Let me emphasize, however, that bond funds must never be confused with revenue," Harriman said. "Your honorable bodies and I must accept the responsibility of providing sufficient revenues to support our ambitions and urgently needed road program."

There is general but private agreement—by fiscal experts of both parties—that a penny boost in the gas tax will be needed eventually to pay off the bond issue. The state levy now is four cents a gallon.

Action may not come until 1958. Democrat Harriman will be running for reelection then, and GOP strategists would like the gas tax boost as campaign ammunition.

Harriman told the Legislatures opening session that the 1956 contracts for toll-free roads totaled 195 million. The 1957 program would boost the total to "at least" 300 million, the governor said.

To assure that the proposed Albany-to-Canada northward highway built to adequate standards, Harriman said, the Constitution should be amended to allow construction of the expressway through some forest preserve lands.

Constitutional amendments must be passed by two separately elected Legislatures and approved by the voters. Harriman urged the lawmakers to give initial passage to such an amendment.

The governor also recommended legislation to provide more rest areas along state highways, and to restrict billboards along inter-state and controlled-access highways.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

The other day I had an interesting visitor, Bernard Schulze.

Back in the May 10, 1955 Freeman there was an illustrated article on Mr. Schulze. At that time he was living at Glenrie Lake Park and had come to this country only some 10 months before from Hamburg, Germany. Now he has a house in Port Ewen, facing the Hudson river and at the present time is in the midst of making a model of the Mary Powell, our beloved Hudson River side-wheeler.

He will make it to scale, a quarter of an inch to one foot. The finished model will be about 6 feet long. What he would like to have is the use of some good photos or pictures of the Mary Powell, any views.

I think he is interested in the late views around 1888 and later, as the Powell was done over several times. Those who have anything on the Mary Powell can contact Mr. Schulze at Port Ewen, he lives right in the village, his Post Office box is 452. Jack Crawford wrote about

Mr. Schulze's craft-work in 1955 which read then in part: Mr. Schulze is a son of sailors and the modelers of ships, and Schulze himself has plowed the blue whale paths of the world, some 3 years on sailing vessels and eight years on steam propelled ships. Mr. Crawford described a large scaled model of the Half Moon which is 6 feet, four inches in length and five feet two inches in height. No doubt the original of this model once sailed right past the same shores Mr. Schulze can see from his Port Ewen window. Mr. Schulze makes every little detail by hand.

He became a builder of models about 25 years ago in his spare time during voyages as a deck-hand in the German merchant marine. He was self-taught, although the building of ship models was a tradition in his family. He visited museums all over the world during his voyages, studying ships with the most minute care.

Now Mr. Schulze tells me he is doing models for West Point and that it is his profession, besides his hobby.

Mr. Crawford also wrote that Mr. Schulze has hundreds of photographs of various ships he built for museums and collectors all over the world in the past quarter of a century. He also models whole cities, churches, rivers, railroad coaches and book covers. It is said in the February 1952 German edition of the Reader's Digest there is a color print of Schulze in his Hamburg workshop rigging a model of the U. S. Frigate Constitution. The model is now in the possession of Heinz Nordhoff, chairman of the board of Volkswagen Works, Germany. Strange as it may seem, the model of the Volkswagen bus, was also built by Schulze. No doubt in the two years since Jack Crawford wrote him up, Mr. Schulze has made many exciting models in this country. I did not get a chance to get details.

Again I say, it is sad that the Mary Powell, the Norwich, the Skillyput, and other such well-known boats should have perished right here in their own hometowns, while Marine Museums are springing up all over. Our Clermont replica which could run on its own steam also went down with the rest into a watery grave, and now comes a man from a far off land, from another continent, who too falls in love with the Hudson river, as did Robert Fulton, Henry Hudson and many others.

Business When we separate the word BUSINESS into its component letters—B-U-S-I-N-E-S-S—we find that "U" and "I" are in it. In fact, if "U" and "I" were not in BUSINESS it would not be BUSINESS. Therefore if BUSINESS is to remain BUSINESS, "U" and "I" must be kept. Further, we discover that "U" comes before "I" in BUSINESS, and that "I" is silent

—it is to be seen not heard. Also, the "U" has the sound of "I", which indicates that it is an amalgamation of the interests of "U" and "I" and when they are properly amalgamated BUSINESS becomes harmonious and altogether profitable.

Mother (to son returning from party)—I hope you didn't ask for a second piece of cake. Tommy—No, I just asked Mrs. Smith for the recipe so you could make some like it. And she gave me two more pieces.

What Was Columbus's Real Name? Christopher Columbus is the Latinized form of the name of the discoverer of America. Although it has become the accepted form of the name in English, the Great Navigator is not known to have used any name except Christobal Colon, which is the Spanish form.

The little diamond sparkled beautifully as the newly-engaged girl held out her hand to show her ring to an old schoolmate. Old Girl Friend—My, I'll bet all of your friends admire that. Girl—Yes, and three of them recognized it.

The world is full of cactus; but we don't have to sit on it. He—Do you know how to dance this new dance?

FUNNY BUSINESS

"Make him look at this $10 bill—they say money makes the mare go!"

She—I'm not sure—but I think I know the holds all right. Before the honeymoon spell has worn off, the husband may be allowed the use of half the hooks in the closet. A year later he will be lucky to get five of them. But that is four more than he needs, unless he insists on hanging up his bedroom slippers and the two neckties he got for Christmas.

Chip—Didn't I borrow $5 from you last week? Sol—No, you didn't. Chip—How careless of me! Can you let me have it now?

In the past 12 months Americans have purchased enough wallpaper to circle the world 25 times at the Equator. Robber—This is a stick-up. I want all the money you've got. Victim—I'll make a bargain with you. I'll give you all my money if you'll give me that pistol. Robber—Okay. Victim—(now in possession of gun)—Give me that money back or I'll blast you. Robber—You'll have to get some bullets first.

These 11 area men have completed the first phase of basic military training at the "Gateway to the Air Force," Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Texas.

Six of them are now taking part in the advanced basic training course, following which they will qualify for assignment in one of the Air Force's 43 major career fields.

These airmen are:

Kenneth R. May, 18, son of August May, Bearsville.

Edward B. Knight, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Knight, 8 Carnation avenue, Ellenville.

Gary Wayne Johnson, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Johnston, Rt. 3, Box 28, Kingston.

Michael Bruno, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Bruno, Box 118, Hurley.

Michael F. Brennan, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Brennan, 88 Broadway.

Larry E. Kitheart, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kitheart, Box 33, Glasco.

The other five have qualified for specialized training and will be assigned to student squadrons at other air force bases.

These airmen are:

Emanuel L. Edwards, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Edwards, 280 North street.

David C. Talleur, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Talleur, Rt. 3, Box 32-D, Kingston.

Walter Bush, 18, son of Harry Bush, High Falls.

Richard M. Burns, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Burns, 117 Hunter street.

Anthony W. Amato, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Amato, 69 Gill street.

While at Lackland the new enlistee undergoes the transition from civilian to airman through a program which includes processing, aptitude testing, physical conditioning, survival and weapons training and varied classroom studies ranging from citizenship to military customs and courtesies.

Like the USAF Officer Candidate and Pre-Flight schools, also located at Lackland, basic military training prepares graduates for specialized training and on-the-job assignment.

Refugee Aid Fund Over Top; More Money Needed

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—The American Red Cross said today its special campaign for funds to help Hungarian refugees has brought in $5,170,000.

Although this exceeded the goal of five million dollars, Red Cross chairman E. Roland Harriman said still more money is needed, and he voiced hope that "many who have not yet contributed still will do so."

"The unexpected increases in the number of people fleeing into Austria and of those coming to the United States, under the extended government plan, have made it necessary for the American Red Cross to expand its relief program," Harriman said in a statement.

"While many chapters have attained their goal, many others have not. These will be continuing until goals are reached. These additional funds are essential to meet the responsibilities accepted by the Red Cross in Hungary and for refugees in Austria and the United States."

Harriman said Red Cross chapters throughout the country will help other agencies in efforts to resettle refugees.

Beef May Be Short

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today the persistent drought in the Great Plains may have considerable effect on the supply and price of meat in the years immediately ahead. Continued severe drought, the agency said, would certainly reduce cattle numbers and consequently the supply of beef. First, there would be a temporarily heavy supply of beef, reflecting liquidation of cattle in drought areas because of lack of grass and other feed. Then, shorter supplies would follow because of the reduction in breeding stock which would accompany a liquidation movement.

Elvis Is 1-A

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 9 (AP)—It's a Class 1-A rating for Elvis Presley, the rock 'n' roller now awaiting an invitation from Uncle Sam to join the army. Presley recently was given a pre-induction examination, and the army said yesterday that he passed with flying colors. "Physically he's an A-profile, and that's as high as you can go," said Capt. Elwyn P. Rowan, commander of the army's recruiting station here.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—The cash position of the treasury Jan. 4, 1957: Balance, $3,907,950; 870.90; deposits fiscal year July 1, $33,236,194.645.47; withdrawals fiscal year, $39,442,818.713.46; total debt, $276,499,143.638.02; gold assets, $21,949,115.448.84; x includes $454,565.945.61 debt not subject to statutory limit.

Purchasing Agent

and report at various intervals to the council as to its findings. Roth's proposal noted that under the present system of purchasing the city is losing "considerable moneys in bids, discounts, and volume rebates that are available to purchases in volume." He felt that savings could be realized "if purchasing was concentrated in one authority."

The alderman asked that the agent be appointed from the city treasurer's office. He asked that standards of quality be determined and contracts made to insure the city of the lowest possible costs on all materials and supplies.

The agent, he said, would be supplied by heads of departments with lists of materials and supplies required for a calendar year, and the agent would consolidate lists and seek bids. He asked that all purchases or contracts amounting to more than $500 be submitted to the council's finance committee, and that such purchases and contracts be valid only when approved by said committee.

The system, Roth said, would give the city "one store keeper."

Cole Real Estate Aided Terminal Plan

The possibility of a truck terminal replacing the partially demolished building known as the Barmann Brewery, located on Barmann and South Clinton avenues, was brought about through the efforts of the John A. Cole, Inc., real estate agency of 10 Crown street.

In commenting on the transaction, John A. Cole pointed out that the old brewery building in its present condition has been somewhat of a detriment to the area. "With the plans the Robin Warehousing Corporation of Glenford have for the erection of a modern truck terminal, the transaction should now become an asset to the surrounding properties," said Mr. Cole.

Wesley A. O'Brien, president of the Robin corporation, has indicated that alterations to the property will begin as soon as weather permits. These plans will transform the property into a modern warehouse, storage, and truck terminal.

Flare Objects

Members of the County Building Committee are Jesse McHugh, Charles Relyea, Robert Phinney, Peter Williams, Benjamin A. Storms and James F. Fiore. Fiore, Democratic member of the committee, objected to the resolution adopting the committee recommendations. He said he had not been informed at the committee meeting about any county garage building. He said he had approved erection of a county building but had "passed for the time being" agreement on the erection of a building on the tuberculosis hospital site pending more information as to location on the premises, etc.

He objected to a garage near the tuberculosis hospital because of fumes and noise and said any such structure should be kept distant from the hospital. Fiore also said although he was not opposed to erection of a needed county building he wanted to know "from other sources" if that site was the right one. For those reasons he had "passed" on the approval of the committee's recommendations.

Carroll Asks More Study

Supervisor Carroll (D) objected to a garage near the hospital and moved that the resolution for adoption of the committee report be tabled to give time for more study of the plan and until "we see the plot of plans for the county building and garage." His motion was seconded.

Supervisor Eckert (R) pointed out that the resolution then before the board concerned only that portion of the report in reference to a county building and said a second resolution relating to the county garage portion of the report would be presented later.

Supervisor Turck (D) on the vote said no intelligent explanation had been made as to selection of the site and before the money was voted taxpayers should be consulted. He suggested since the city of Kingston taxpayers pay a large portion of the tax, it should be ascertained whether they approve the site so far away from the center of town. He suggested a public hearing before the site was selected.

Eckert Cites Reason

Eckert pointed out one third of the people of the county live in the city and he suggested the county people should be considered. Better parking and other things appeared to make the Boulevard site most feasible.

The Carroll motion to table the county building resolution was lost by a vote of 16 to 12, a strictly party vote.

Supervisor Mollenhauer (R) Rosendale, moved to table the resolution selecting the site until after a public hearing. His motion was seconded. The motion to table was lost 16 to 12, a strictly party vote with the Democrats voting to table.

Prior to the vote Supervisor Eckert (R) said no public hearing was necessary, the board had been elected as representatives of the people, and he believed the members sought to act as the people desired them to.

Supervisor Bush (R) Ulster, said the committee had met with various groups and had taken into consideration the ideas which these groups expressed. Marshall (D) Rochester asked what groups outside the city of Kingston had been contacted. He asked if any county civic association or group had been interviewed.

Williams said county attorneys made no objection to the new location since offices would be conveniently located in one place with ample parking and the distance would mean little to those traveling to Kingston. He said it had been city attorneys who had objected to the site.

Supervisor Bush replied there were no definite organizations in the county interviewed and he said county people wanted to keep out of the congested traffic and have parking facilities.

On the vote for adoption of the resolution approving the site and securing plans and specifications and making funds available the vote was 16 to 12, a strictly party vote carried by the Republican members.

Authorization for erection of a county garage and administration building at the Boulevard location was carried 16 to 11 by a party vote. Objection to this plan was also voiced by minority members.

The Seminoles of Florida are the only Indian nation that never has officially made peace with the United States. Now they sell handicrafts to "enemy" tourists.

Tax Cut, Spending

heretofore been kept behind closed doors.

He criticized the legislature for what he said was too hasty passage of bills and urged the lawmakers to provide "maximum opportunity for the public to be heard and for open debate."

1956 'Good Year'

Harriman described 1956 as a "good" year for business in the state. But he said that factory employment "has not recovered to the peak level of 1953" and thus cautioned against complacency.

"We must do all within our power to expand our economy and to create new job opportunities," he declared.

With this in mind, he said he would request more money for advertising the state's industrial advantages and to promote travel, with emphasis on ski resorts.

The governor reported that the state had put under contract about 195 million dollars worth of toll-free highway construction during the year. He said the administration hoped to boost the total to 300 million with the aid of the 500-million-dollar highway bond issue approved by the voters last year.

Hints Gas Tax Boost

Then came a veiled reference to the possibility of a gasoline tax increase:

"Let me emphasize, however, that bond funds must never be confused with revenue. Your honorable bodies and I must accept the responsibility of providing sufficient revenues to support our ambitious and urgently needed road program."

Fiscal experts in both parties privately agreed that a one-cent increase in the gas tax—now four cents a gallon—will be needed ultimately to pay off the bond issue.

Republican leaders are likely to refuse any increase this year. They would prefer the request to come in 1958, so that it could be used against Harriman in the gubernatorial election.

Would Delay Act

The governor repeated his request for postponement of the controversial youth court act—from Feb. 1 to next Jan. 1. He also spoke favorably of the court reorganization plan that is expected to encounter rough going in the Legislature.

Harriman said congestion of court calendars had "reached a shocking point and should no longer be countenanced." He urged "every effort to adjust differences of opinion" over the remodeling plan.

The governor's 17,000-word message dealt with 29 specific subjects, beginning with business development and ending with electoral reforms.

Other Points

Some of his recommendations:

1. A 50-million-dollar bond issue to encourage private construction of middle-income housing especially for the aged.

2. A state atomic energy law governing industrial uses of nuclear power.

3. New laws to protect consumers against fraudulent practices in sale of home appliances and other merchandise.

4. A permanent law setting forth the state's role and its ability to assist—in event of disasters.

5. Permissive state orders regulating marketing of farm produce and a state meat-inspection law.

6. More funds and increased powers for the state Commission Against Discrimination.

7. Legislation to block the New York Telephone Company's bid for a $55,400,000-a-year increase in rates.

The governor also called on the Legislature to memorialize Congress to authorize the State Power Authority to develop the hydroelectric power potential of the Niagara river.

Praises Hungarians

Harriman opened his message with a tribute to Hungarian rebels. He said the state was using "every resource" to help shelter refugees.

"We must hold fast," he continued, "to the doctrine of giving our friendship and our support to those who, like the people of Israel, are building conditions of freedom and opposing the spread of Communist power."

He went on to discuss the freedom inherent in American government and declared that "as a Jeffersonian" he believed that "that government is best which is closest to the people."

"Split Session" Asked The governor asked the legislature to consider the idea of a "split session"—the first part to be devoted to introduction of bills, the second to debate and action. In between, the various legislative committees would conduct public hearings on pending measures.

The governor also requested a 15-day breathing period in which he must act on the bills that were passed. He said he needed more time to seek opinions on the legislation.

Renews Requests

In addition to a primary election system, Harriman asked the legislature to lower the residence requirements for voting in state and local elections. He renewed previous requests for two constitutional amendments—one to drop the legal voting age from 21 to 18, the other to permit the people to initiate constitutional changes.

Harriman closed his message with an offer of cooperation—"My door is always open"—and on the theme with which he began.

"I hope," he said, "that this year will see an even greater participation by our citizens in the legislative process."

Salesmen handling the biggest and most expensive items—used car dealers and realtors—depend upon classified ads almost exclusively to sell their products. Businessmen with other items for sale would do well to ponder why these salesmen rely so heavily on this type of advertising.

Tannersville Man In Good Condition

Robert J. Teetsel, 24, of Tannersville, who suffered facial lacerations Tuesday when his car and a truck were in collision on Route 9W about four miles north of Ravena, was reported in good condition at Albany Hospital today.

Walter Combs, 56, of Coxsack, truck driver, was given a summons for "endangering." It is returnable before Justice of the Peace Sylvester Albano on Jan. 17.

State police reported that Combs veered into the wrong lane, colliding head-on with the Teetsel car.

Women Perish in Fire

Pittsdown, N. Y., Jan. 9 (AP)—

Two elderly women died in a fire that swept their farm home yesterday. The victims were Mrs. Viola Chessell, about 80, and Mrs. Fannie Brennstuhl, about 75. Firemen had to haul water a half-mile to fight the blaze.

The house is on a country road near this Rensselaer county community. The dead women were friends of the owner of the house, Mrs. Sarah Eycleshymer, who was not home when the fire broke out.

Greenwich, Conn., Closest
To Biggest Men in Industry

New York, Jan. 9 (AP)—Greenwich, Conn., isn't big as cities go in the United States. But if the people of Greenwich want an educated guess on what's in store for the nation this year, they might ask their neighbors—because in this New York suburb lives a collection of some of the biggest wheels in U. S. industry.

It's a concentration of which the residents of the area are proud. So the Greenwich Time polled 36 residents, all top brass among the nation's business leaders. And the newspaper tells us today that 29 of them expect this year to be as good or better than last year.

Three Are Certain
Of the 29, three are certain 1957 will top all previous years. Four others are confident it will beat last year. Nine think it will run neck and neck with 1956. And 13 just say it will be a good year for business.

The seven others cautiously stress some of the major uncertainties, but only one seems really converted to a less than hopeful view.

Here are a few of the predictions of the men who are neighbors at home as well as leaders in their own industries:

Eugene Holman, chairman of the world's biggest oil company, Jersey Standard, sees good times ahead with the domestic oil industry likely to top 1956's record setting demand by four per cent.

Prosperity to Last

"One of the best business years on record," is how Thomas J. Watson Jr., president of International Business Machines, sees 1957—and beyond that, "our nation will enjoy continued prosperity for some time to come." Theodore G. Montague, chairman of the Boarden Co., sights "a generally bright outlook for most industries."

"The index of over-all industrial activity should continue at a high level," says Frank Pace, Jr., executive vice president of General Dynamics, who expects that "military expenditures should rise, particularly for aircraft, electronics, guided missiles and ships."

For housewife and food processor alike, Joseph F. Abbott, chairman of American sugar refining, foresees "adequate sugar available for our home and industrial needs at reasonable prices."

Imbibers will note that Russell R. Brown, president of National Distillers, says "the outlook for business conditions generally is good for 1957—for my own business I think it's very good."

J. Whitney Peterson, president of U. S. Tobacco, however, says

"1957 will hardly start off with anything very spectacular to recommend it for an improvement or being very different from 1956."

Retailer Bruce A. Gimbel, president of Gimbel Bros., expects an increase in department store sales with the big problem the danger of inflation.

Factors of strength listed by Alfred L. Hammell, president of Railway Express Agency, include "an even higher general purchasing power than in 1956, a rate of construction activity both industrial and governmental which will be running above 1956 levels with a resultant high rate of steel production." This should make 1957 "as good or possibly better" than 1956.

Leroy A. Petersen, Otis Elevator president, agrees, citing forecasts by managers of 268 Otis domestic offices that the volume of new multistory buildings will equal the 1956 record.

Thomas F. O'Neil, president of RKO Teleradio Pictures and vice president of General Tire & Rubber, sees "continuing and expanding growth in 1957."

So do John M. Lovejoy, Seaboard Oil president; G. Keith Funston, New York Stock Exchange president; Robert D. Howse, Waterman Pen president; H. C. Turner, Turner Construction president and William Zuckendorf, Webb and Knapp president.

Lutheran Church
In West Camp
Awards Contract

The awarding of the heating contract this week signaled the initial phase of the remodeling of West Camp's St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church sanctuary.

The contract covering installation of a new heating plant for the sanctuary and choir room was awarded at the regular council meeting to David Hildebrandt & Sons, Saugerties plumbing and heating contractors.

Need New Chimney

Preparations for the building of the new chimney have been made and work will begin as quickly as possible. When the chimney is completed the new hot air system may be installed.

The Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor, indicated to David Hildebrandt and members of the council that he would like to have the work completed in time for the Lenten services in February.

Included in the proposed rebuilding program is the renovation of the altar and chancel, rebuilding of the organ and repairs

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

RUSSIA DOES NOT BELONG

In Russia, the people can read only what the Commies say can be printed. The Kremlin controls every printing press.

In the United States, there is no control except over obscene literature.

In the World Almanac of 1956, page 622, you can read the Charter of the United Nations. It provides that members shall respect "human rights and fundamental freedoms." Russia has agreed to these provisions, but violates them.

Are any freedoms more fundamental than free speech, free press and the right to support or criticize the government under which we live?

Yet Russia denies these rights to her own people, in addition to violating her international obligations. She has therefore violated her own right to belong to the UN.

Then comes the question: Should not the United Nations expel Russia? But how?

Read the Charter, and you will find the snag. The Charter provides that a member which has persistently violated its principles may be expelled by the General Assembly upon the "recommendation" of the Security Council. The snag is: Russia is a member of the Security Council, with a veto power which she would no doubt use to prevent the matter from going to the General Assembly.

But if Russia can't be expelled from the UN, then why shouldn't the United States and other honorable nations reorganize the UN to permit Russia's expulsion?

charge of the building fund campaign.

Detailed reports of all phases of the remodeling program will be announced at the annual congregational meeting in the parish hall Sunday at 8 p. m.

Election of new councilmen will also be part of the agenda. Councilmen whose terms expire this year are Henry Knaust, Mr. Schlenker, Harry L. Moose, Mr. Lasher and Mr. Drescher.

Charles J. Stewart, treasurer, and Albert J. Cawein are in 'Operations Research'

Quality Control Topic

During the recent monthly meeting of the Mid-Hudson Section of the American Society for Quality Control at the Anchor Inn in Poughkeepsie, Dr. A. S. Schultz of Cornell University spoke on "Operations Research."

According to Dr. Schultz, a revolution is now taking place in the area of industrial management decision making. "During the next five years," Dr. Schultz predicted, "the increased application of high-speed digital computers will foster the growth of a new type of staff activity for American management."

Known as "Operations Research," explained Dr. Schultz, this activity involves the scientific investigation and analysis of business problems and the use of new mathematical and analytical techniques. Traditional departmental organization for decision making will become obsolete. The next meeting of the Society will be held on February 5 in the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston. E. D. Ferrell of Bell Telephone Labs will talk on "The Control Chart—Modifications and Extensions."

The first Bible for the blind was published by the American Bible Society in 1835 in raised lettering, not Braille.

Cutaway Jackets, Silk Suits Among New Spring Fashions Favored for U. S. Women

BY DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

New York, Jan. 9 (AP) — The cutaway jacket takes on feminine airs in the spring collection of Ben Zuckerman, maestro of tailored suits, shown today to some 250 fashion editors of newspapers throughout the country here for a concentrated briefing on what American women will wear this spring.

Zuckerman's cutaways, unlike their masculine counterparts, are brief, usually unfitted, and more aptly described as "curveaway." They are shown with slim skirts and coordinated blouses, often dotted, usually matched to the coat lining. And they often reveal handsome leather belts snugging in the skirt waistline.

Zuckerman is one of a scant half-dozen individuals in the New York garment industry who regards the building of a suit with the same reverence as an architect shows toward a cathedral. He is a perfectionist, a precisionist and a man who admits without urging that nobody, but nobody can make suits like his.

This spring he stars navy as his top color, often going positively nautical with brass buttons and sailor collars. Next in preference are white tweeds with gold link belts, medallions and buttons. After that come a full range of grays, beige and pastel tones, some with belted and bloused jackets, some with tunic skirts.

Elfreda-Visoni likes the silk suit for spring, showing it in many versions, all with soft, feminine touches and gently curving but unstrained lines. Skirts achieve walking ease by means of low-placed back pleats, panels and peg-tops. A highlight is a ladylike little suit in burnt-beige raw silk with jewel buttons, slot-seam detail and a pleasantly curved look at bosom and hipline.

INVITING ONE AND NOT THE OTHER

Today's first letter asks: "Will you please tell me if I was wrong in the following situation: The other night as we were leaving a friend's house and my husband and I and another couple (also friends of ours) were standing in the doorway saying our good-byes, I invited the host and hostess to our house for the following week. I did not, however, include the other couple in the invitation and my husband thinks I showed very bad manners by extending an invitation to them in the presence of the other couple without inviting them too. I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

I'm sorry, but I agree with your husband that you were very tactless.

Calling Rector by First Name
Dear Mrs. Post: A new rector has recently been assigned to our church. He is quite a young man and very popular. I have heard quite a few of the parishioners call him by his first name. To me it is very lowering to the standard and dignity of his position. I know first-name calling has become very widespread in the present day, but isn't this going a little too far?

Answer: I agree with you. To hear your clergyman called by his first name would be most shocking.

Must Bridegroom Wear Gloves?
Dear Mrs. Post: If the men in our wedding wear formal day clothes is it necessary that they wear gloves? My fiancé objects to the formal clothes on these grounds. He says he knows he will be very awkward with them.

Answer: Gloves would be necessary only if the wedding is very large and very formal in every detail of preparation. In such a wedding he would put his left glove on his hand and place his right glove in his gloved left hand.

Is it proper to wear veils in the evening? Is card leaving still the proper thing to do? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-18, "An Etiquette Test," answers these questions. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. VA Is Reducing Paper Work for Patients, Doctors

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—The Veterans Administration (VA) said today it is sharply reducing the paper work required of veteran-patients and local doctors who give them outpatient treatment under its "home town program."

The program provides for care of veterans who require extended treatment for chronic service-connected disabilities.

Dr. A. J. Klippner, deputy director of clinics, said a new system of reduced billings and forms went into effect Jan. 1 in most areas.

The change will not become effective until July 1 in California, Colorado, Michigan, North Carolina, Oregon, South Dakota, Washington, Wisconsin and Hawaii.

The simplified method will apply to individually selected long-term patients and their doctors.

About 40,000 doctors and 637,000 veterans are participating in the program. VA estimated 50 per cent of these cases will go on the new billing basis.

Under the new plan, doctors may receive VA authority to continue treatment for periods up to one year instead of having to submit a monthly request. They may also be allowed to submit medical reports quarterly instead of monthly.

Veterans in the program who must travel to see medical specialists will receive travel authorization to cover the entire treatment period instead of on a monthly basis.

Adult Courses Are In For Criticism

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—An adult education official criticized as "smorgasbord" today the courses offered to adults seeking to continue their education.

Arthur P. Crabtree said today's adult curriculum, like the Scandinavian buffet table called smorgasbord, "offers a variety of trivia but fails to recognize education's most urgent task—developing citizens who can translate the Democratic concepts into daily behavior."

Crabtree heads a bureau of the New York State Department of Education and is a member of the National Assn. of Public School Adult Educators. He wrote in the first of a series of booklets to be released by the association in an attempt to raise adult education standards.

He said the tendency to give the individual "what he wants" in education has resulted in adult curricula heavily weighted with such arts and crafts as ceramics. The "smorgasbord philosophy," he said, "must be modified."

Saugerties School To Borrow $165,000

The Saugerties Central Schools Board of Education voted at their monthly meeting Monday evening to borrow $165,000 in bond anticipatory notes to pay the costs of building construction until the bonds are sold sometime in the spring.

Since this district centralized, the 7th and 8th grade pupils in the North Flatbush District, and all of the pupils in the Daisy District, kindergarten through 8th grade, have been attending the Kingston and Woodstock Schools respectively. It was voted to bring all of these in the Saugerties Central Schools beginning next fall.

The Board of Education was in receipt of information from the State Education Department that during the 1955-56 school year approximately 100 rear-end bus accidents were reported, many of these accidents were caused by school buses running into other vehicles, including other school buses. The State Education Department recommended that every board of education in the state adopt a policy on this subject which would encourage motorists not to follow school buses close enough to be involved in an accident if either vehicle is suddenly required to stop.

The Board of Education accepted the offer of the Ulster County TB and Health Association to provide penicillin, without cost, for school children in the Saugerties Central Schools system who have had rheumatic fever. Under this plan:

Any child attending school in Ulster county who has had Rheumatic Fever can receive penicillin orally if such treatment is recommended by their physician and if authorized by a parent.

The penicillin will be given by the school nurse or other authorized person while school is in session.

Penicillin tablets will be distributed monthly by the school nurse.

There was discussion by the Board on the date when the various one-room school districts in the Saugerties Central Schools District would be given an opportunity to vote whether or not to close the school in their district.

School is now being maintained in the following: West Camp, Saxton, Mt. Marion, West Saugerties, Asbury, Blue Mountain, Cedar Grove, Katsbaan.

On or before the date of completion of the new Mt. Marion ten room elementary building, sometime next fall, these one room school districts will be given an opportunity to vote whether or not to close their school.

Rosemary Mertes, 14, one of the eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Mertes, Mantador, was last seen as she left her job at a local bowling alley on Monday night. Finding the body climaxed a 20-hour search by 300 volunteers.

6 Are Arrested In Counterfeit Auto Parts Case

New York, Jan. 9 (AP)—Mantador District Attorney Frank S. Hogan's office says it has smashed a multi-million-dollar counterfeit auto parts ring with six arrests.

A grand jury filed charges against six men—three of them New York city residents and three of them New Jersey residents.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Joseph Stone said yesterday the ring had operated nearly 10 years and had manufactured up to a million parts a year, shipping the bulk to Mexico and Central and South America.

Stone said the parts were mostly for ignition systems and were generally substandard. The parts allegedly were stamped falsely with the names of such manufacturers as Ford, Autolite and Delco-Remy.

The New York residents accused pleaded innocent in Criminal Sessions Court and were placed under $1,000 bail each pending trial. They are Harry August, 45, of 667 E. 34th street, Brooklyn; Erwin Schneberger, 47, of 141-59 85th road, Jamaica, Queens; and Irving Gilbert, 60, of 243 West End avenue, Manhattan.

Arraigning Next Week

The New Jersey defendants were listed as Charles Deperty Sr., 62, of 400 Parker street, Newark; his son, Charles Jr., 36, of 339 N. 7th street, Newark; and Edward Cukras, 40, of 99 Marcy avenue, East Orange.

The New Jersey men are scheduled to be arraigned here next week.

Stone said the investigation began as a result of numerous complaints by major auto manufacturers, the companies told Hogan's office they were deluged with protests from people who said they were having trouble with the trade-marked products.

Inquiry showed that the parts were not the products of the big manufacturers. Auto-lite is a subsidiary of Chrysler and Delco-Remy is a subsidiary of General Motors.

Stone said Auger heads several auto-parts companies in Brooklyn.

Case Is Adjourned

The case of Miss Arlene Howard, 18, of 109 Clinton avenue, arrested at 12:50 a. m. today by Officers Gilbert Gray and William Snyder on charges of no certificate of registration and no proof of insurance was adjourned to Jan. 16 in City Court today. She was arrested on Ferry street near Broadway.

trict Court, Southern District of New York.

The principal speaker of the kick-off meeting, Judge Cashin told the workers that the "future of the campaign is in your hands."

"You are selling an interest in humanity," he said. "You are selling something that they (prospective contributors) should hold dear."

"Without the hospitals and the proper facilities within those hospitals, service cannot be had," Judge Cashin stated. "A hospital is only as good as its nurses."

Judge Cashin told his audience that they were "selling shares in humanity. You are not asking anyone to give you something. The campaign is in your hands," he added. "The way you handle it will determine its success."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, dean of Sullivan and Ulster counties and an honorary co-chairman of the campaign with Senator Arthur H. Wickes, told the group that "without the help of the public, the campaign goal will never be achieved."

Essential to Area Hospital

"You represent Benedictine Hospital," he said. "The proposed new school of nursing and residence is not something we would like to have. It is essential," Monsignor Drury stated. "It is necessary to provide the nurses that are needed in the hospital if we are to have the nursing care when we are sick."

Sister M. Berenice, administrator of the hospital, told the meeting that the appearance of so many people would be proof that the campaign would be a success and that the new school would be erected.

Judge Charles H. Gaffney, a co-chairman of the campaign, said the response has been most unusual.

Graduates of the proposed new school, said Judge Gaffney, will serve in other hospitals in the years to come. Industry," he added, "has recognized the need for more nurses."

Judge Gaffney introduced Judge Cashin, a native of Kingston and the first Ulster countian ever appointed to a federal judgeship.

J. Ellis Briggs, the other co-chairman of the campaign, urged the workers to call on all their prospects. "Campaigns that have failed do so because all the people were not given an opportunity to pledge. The campaign will go over the top if all prospects are called on," he added.

Chambers School Parents to Form Own P-TA Group

About 200 parents of children attending the Chambers Union Free School met Tuesday night to form a Parent Teachers Group.

A nominating committee was selected to prepare a slate of officers to be presented at the next meeting of the group at 7:30 p. m., Tuesday, Feb. 5, at the school.

Members of the committee, whose names were drawn from a hat, are Mrs. Joseph Senior, Lester Elmdorff, Drew Daley, Mrs. Catherine Raskoskie, Mrs. Rose McDonough and Mrs. Julian Lohre.

Attendance Pleasing

Herbert Crispell, who acted as chairman of the meeting, welcomed parents to the school and introduced Principal Reginald Russell who explained the functions of a Parents Group and expressed pleasure in the fine attendance of parents at the organizational meeting.

He advocated a closer relationship between parents and teachers to make possible the very finest school possible.

Mr. Russell showed pictures of members of the faculty of the school, beginning with some shots of them as babies and children—much to the delight of parents. A film on the operation of a progressive school and the manner in which it meets the problems of the child, was shown.

It was announced that Bruce Burgher would represent the faculty as advisor to the nominating committee.

Goes to Highest Court

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 9 (AP)—The New York Post has carried to the state's highest court its fight for a copy of a judge's charge to a jury in a fatal shooting case that involved a policeman.

The newspaper said in a brief filed yesterday that constitutional guarantees of freedom of the press were violated in the withholding of a transcript of a public trial. The American Society of Newspaper Editors and the New York Daily News submitted briefs in support of the Post's stand. The New York Herald Tribune also has intervened.

Workers in the general phase will begin solicitations immediately and will make their first reports on Monday, January 14.

The campaign seeks to raise a minimum of $400,000 to help build the new School of Nursing and Residence. The present nurses' home was built in 1920 to accommodate 18 students at a time when the hospital had 11 students.

Today, the school has 72 students, 27 of them living in the nurses' home and the others in residences purchased by the hospital as an expedient. The proposed new school and residence will accommodate 100 students, graduating about 32 each year, more than enough to take care of the hospital's needs.

The remaining graduates will be available to other hospitals, to industry, public health services and to fulfill other needs.

Levitt in Good Condition After Rhinebeck Crash

New York, Jan. 9 (AP)—State comptroller Arthur Levitt was reported in good condition today at Mt. Sinai Hospital here following the crash of a state-owned plane at Rhinebeck, N. Y.

The 56-year-old state official and the pilot and copilot of the Conservation Department's twin-engine aircraft were injured in an emergency landing attempt yesterday.

Plane Demolished

The pilot, Fred C. McLane, 55, of Lake Placid, N. Y., sought to set the plane down in a clearing when it developed unexpected engine trouble. However, the plane fell 50 feet short of the clearing and slammed into a clump of trees. It did not catch fire but was demolished.

Also injured was copilot Earl McGuirk, 33, of Delmar, N. Y. He suffered a possible left shoulder fracture.

None of the injuries was considered serious.

All three men were taken to northern Dutchess County Health Center after the crash.

May Stay 3 Weeks

Levitt later was taken by ambulance to Mt. Sinai Hospital where a spokesman said he probably would be hospitalized for three weeks.

Levitt, elected comptroller in 1954 on the Democratic-Liberal ticket was bound for Albany to attend a meeting of Tioga county leaders. A resident of Brooklyn, he is a former president of the New York city Board of Education.

A spokesman in Gov. Averell Harriman's office said Levitt had been unable to make arrangements for commercial transportation in time to attend his meeting. In such instances, said the spokesman, the Conservation Department makes its planes available for state officials.

Estes Loses Again, Kennedy Gets Post

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (Tenn.), the 1956 vice presidential nominee, has been balked again in his efforts to get a seat on the powerful Foreign Relations committee.

Instead the spot goes to Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) who has four years less seniority than the Tennesseean. Kefauver won the second place on his party's ticket last August by edging Kennedy in dramatic balloting at the Democratic convention.

Democratic committee assignments were decided yesterday in a closed-door session of the Democratic steering committee. The meeting was not announced in advance and Kefauver said he was unaware of the session.

"I am disappointed," Kefauver told a reporter when informed of the action. He has sought before to get assigned to the foreign relations group.

Co-ed, Ex-Fiance Dead

Vermillion, S. D., Jan. 9 (AP)—An attractive University of South Dakota co-ed and her former fiance were dead today after authorities said he shot her and then himself at her home here last night. Jeanne Bruyer, 21, a drum major and campus beauty candidate, was shot fatally by Donald Steele, 20, a sophomore at the university.

Clay County State's Attorney Theodore Dolney said Steele, son of Dr. D. S. Steele, Robbinsdale, Minn., veterinarian, died early today at a Sioux City, Iowa, hospital. He had shot himself in the right temple.

Wife Names Actress During Divorce Suit

New York, Jan. 9 (AP)—The wife of bandleader Art (Cow-Eyes) Engler says he deserted her for film and stage star Vivian Blaine.

Miss Blaine, appearing in a stage play in San Francisco, denied the charge. "There is no great big romantic involvement" between her and Engler, she declared.

Engler's wife, Shirley, a pretty redhead, made the charge yesterday in Manhattan Supreme Court in her suit asking a legal separation from her husband plus support for their two children. The hearing continues today.

She testified she learned of her husband's love for Miss Blaine last fall through an article in a theatrical publication. "He said he was sorry I had seen it, but he was in love with this woman," she testified.

Why We Say--

THEY DIDN'T KNOW: Captain James Clark, who discovered Australia, was amazed at seeing the kangaroo in the Endeavor River territory. He asked natives what the animal was and they replied "Kangaroo" which meant they didn't know either, but Captain Clark believed that was the name of the animal, and that's how it was named.

Shorter Courses Favored In High and Colleges

Philadelphia, Jan. 9 (AP)—A former U. S. commissioner of education proposed today that able students be permitted to abandon "present lockstep practices" and complete high school and college in three years each.

Earl J. McGrath, now executive officer of the Institute of Higher Education, New York, said they could do this "without personal harm or social loss—indeed with probable gains on both counts."

In a speech prepared for the Assn. of American Colleges (AAC), McGrath noted a tendency for Americans to stay in school for increasingly longer times, especially for professional education.

"There is reliable evidence," he said, "that many American youths could advance through high school and college much more rapidly than they do now."

"They could do this without impairment of their intellectual development, without emotional disturbances, without curtailing normal social activities and without losing their adult personalities and civic effectiveness."

Damage Is Reported

Police reported at 6:53 p. m., Tuesday that a 1950 sedan, owned by John Leski, of 122 Newkirk avenue, parked in front of that address, rolled down a hill and struck a 1953 sedan owned by Calvin Herbert Warnecke of 88 Newkirk avenue, which was parked in front of that address. Officers Thomas McGraw and Bruce Clarke reported the Leski vehicle, after hitting the Warnecke car, caused slight damage to a telephone pole, and a wooden fence, hedge and the lawn in front of 96 Newkirk avenue, owned by Cosmos J. Costello, before it came to a stop. The Leski car sustained damage to the left front fender, door and hood, while the Warnecke car was damaged on the left rear fender, the report said.

Britain Protests Raids

London, Jan. 9 (AP)—Britain has sent a strong protest to Yemen, charging the little Arab kingdom with border raids on the British-protected sheikdoms at the southern end of the Arabian peninsula. Yemen countered with new accusations that British armored columns assaulted tribesmen along the undefined frontier between Yemen and the western Aden Protectorate. The latest Yemen communique alleged the British ambushed and killed an Aden Protectorate prince who resisted British plans for his sultanate.

All the neighborhood kids soon learn whose Mom is the best baker around—especially when tantalizing aromas float from her kitchen.

Some of the most popular Moms are baking with Heckers' flour. It's the flour that comes by its snowy whiteness naturally—without bleaching agents. That's why Heckers' reaps consistent high praise with fuller flavor, better texture, and finer appearance, every time.

Heckers' flour will help you stay on the neighborhood "front page" and keep your family and friends happy with the best in home baking.

A good homemade meat soup is even better if you brown the meat in a little suet or shortening before adding to the water and vegetables.

Add Soft Drinks to Soup
For Unusual Flavor Treat

CARBONATED soft drinks added to this mushroom bisque soup adds taste sparkle and can flavor any soup.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
Here's a surprising new idea. It comes from Kathrine Wellington of Worcester, a very good cook and an old friend. She uses bottled soft drinks to flavor soups. Here is the story in her own words:

"The beverage itself can't be tasted, but it reinforces the natural soup flavor. Vary quantity according to taste and recipe. For a delicate accent, prepare canned soup as usual, and simply stir in about 1/4 cup of carbonated beverage after the soup comes to a boil. For canned condensed soup (plain or frozen), dilute soup in saucepan with 1 cup of water (1/4 of the can); bring to boiling point, turn off heat and stir in 1/4 cup bottled carbonated beverage. For cream soups, 1/2 cup evaporated milk and 1/2 cup water may substitute for the 1 cup of water.

"Try cream of chicken with gingerale; use cola with consommé, beef-vegetable or beef-noodle soup; try clam chowder with lemon-lime carbonated beverage."

Superb Mushroom Bisque
One can condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1 can (4 ounces) mushrooms, (canned mushroom stems and pieces may be used), 1/2 cup cola beverage, 2/3 cup heavy cream, whipped; 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg.

Combine soup, mushrooms and mushroom liquid in saucepan (save a few caps for garnishing if desired). Stir in half the cola and bring mixture to boil. Add remaining cola.

Fold in whipped cream. Add nutmeg. Stir over moderate heat until hot. Serve at once, garnish if desired, with tiny parsley sprigs and mushroom caps.

Potato Potage (Serves 4)
One can condensed frozen cream of potato soup, 2/3 cup evaporated milk, 2/3 cup gingerale, Melba-toasted croutons.

Combine in saucepan the condensed potato soup, evaporated milk and half the gingerale. Bring to a boil. Stir in remaining gingerale. Garnish with crisp croutons if desired.

For Melba-toasted croutons: Remove crusts and cut sliced bread into cubes. Spread cubes on cookie sheet and bake in slow oven until golden brown.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: —Mushroom bisque, chopped meat patties, French fried potatoes, chopped spinach, rolls, butter or margarine, green salad, cherry pie, cheese, coffee, tea, milk.

Mount Kisco Chief
Accused by Police

White Plains, N. Y., Jan. 9 (AP) — Charges made against Mount Kisco Police Chief John F. Cregier by members of the village police force have been turned over to Westchester county and state authorities by Mayor Bertrand Wray.

The charges—which the chief denies—include failure to account for parking fines paid by mail and funds received from the Westchester Patrolmen's Benevolent Assn.; destruction of fingerprints in a narcotics case; failure to cooperate with other law enforcement agencies; and submitting a false expense voucher.

The mayor turned over the charges to the county district attorney's office here yesterday with a request for an investigation. He sent a copy to the State Department of Audit and Control.

Wray, a retired New York city police lieutenant, said Cregier had "acquiesced" to an inquiry by outside officials after a futile attempt by village officials to "untangle the mess."

The Mature Parent

Why Father Has Become
'The Forgotten Man'

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

In the approximately 400,000 divorces which will be granted this year in this country, custody of children will be given to mothers in virtually every case.

Is this custom of automatically handing children over to mothers just another indication of the low esteem in which we hold fathers? Reporter Howard Whitman thinks so. In a study titled "Father—The Forgotten Man" which he prepared for the Kirkbride Fund for Research in Psychiatry, he writes: "The beating down of father has penetrated our courts in a vital sector. In the frightful business of divorce, the tendency to underrate father, to treat him as though the child had hardly any need of him has become dangerously commonplace."

This is true. But our new contemptuousness for fathers goes back beyond divorced parents' arrangements for care of children. It reaches back to their disappointment in marriage; and back of that to what they thought marriage was. When we get there, we find that they thought it was a private contract to provide each other with sexual satisfaction and the thrills of romantic love. It is this widespread refusal to recognize marriage as a primary social contract that lies the real cause of fathers' new unimportance.

Fathers make society. They are the parents who have traditionally explained it to children. They teach them how to get along in it and help them locate their own places in it. When marriage is viewed as a purely private arrangement instead of a serious social one that affects many people, fathers' prestige as social teachers at once begins to shrink. In a home founded on the instabilities of mere personal feelings, fathers' masculine sense of law and order simply can't function. Their usefulness to children dies with begetting them just like that of drones in the sticky-sweet matriarchate of the beehive.

So what I find of top interest in Howard Whitman's interesting study is this statement: "A man and a woman entering marriage make a moral compact with life and with God to care for the fruit of their union."

When we can recover from our spoiled view of marriage as a private affair and know it again as a public one, fathers will at once recover their great dignity as leaders of families. They are public people and the managers of public affairs.

Austin, Tex. (AP)—A man who has been cleaning up after members of the Texas House of Representatives for 61 years says the lawmakers are tidier these days. "I remember when most of them wore long beards, stained with chewing tobacco and beer," says "Uncle" Henry Blair, head porter of the House and the oldest Texas capital employee. "Last session I had only four tobacco chewers, but, of course, we still provide cuspidors and I have two cuspidor men." Uncle Henry began work at the Texas capitol in 1895.

Good Buy

Lincoln, Neb. (AP)—For $2 at an auction sale, a Lincoln woman got a dresser, a box containing a doll and other items—and a stock certificate worth $440. Lancaster County Judge Herbert

Ronin ruled, after a trial, that the buyer, Mrs. Robert Martin, was the rightful owner of the certificate, found in the box after Mrs. Martin had brought her purchases home. The auction was held to dispose of household effects of an estate whose executor contended inclusion of the stock certificate in Mrs. Martin's purchase was an "unconscious mistake."

Newburgh Thrashes High School, 72-45, for Third DUSO Win

Goldbacks Hand Maroon 5th Loss In One-Sided Tilt

Beccaccio, Cotton, Roscino Spark Win

Newburgh Free Academy led almost from the start to thrash Kingston High, 72-45, in a one-sided DUSO League tussle last night at the Hilly City.

It was the worst loss inflicted on the Maroons by their arch enemy in the history of their long series. The biggest shellacking a Kingston team administered on the Goldbacks was back in the 1946-47 season, 70-39.

Once again, KHS showed that it doesn't have the horsepower to challenge the contenders. The locals are 1-4 in the DUSO and for all intent and purposes are out of the race. They now must be contented with trying to improve their second division standing for today they are near the bottom of the heap with such perennial tail-enders as Monticello and Fallsburg.

Newburgh 3-1
On the other hand, Newburgh is back in the thick of it with a 3-1 record and tied with two other clubs for third. Poughkeepsie heads the circuit at 3-0, and Ellenville is second at 4-1.

NFA snapped back with vengeance after two successive setbacks—one outside the loop. Coach George (Lanky) Masterson inserted guard Dom Roscino into the starting lineup to get more drive in the club and the first backcourt operative proved just what the doctor ordered. Roscino ball-hawked Kingston virtually crazy and ran circles around them in attack. Although tallied a none too high 10 points, his "quarterbacking" spurred NFA on.

Beccaccio, Cotton Star
Al Beccaccio, veteran All-DUSO forward, and Billy Cotton of football fame, sparked the Newburgh scoring. Beccaccio canned 18 and Cotton 13. Both played about three-quarters.

Kingston took a 3-0 lead at the outset, but that was the last time it saw daylight. Newburgh drew steadily ahead after that and by the end of the first period led, 21-8.

With Beccaccio and Cotton setting the pace, NFA ran its lead to 39-17 at intermission. Al caged eight of his total and Cotton seven.

KHS Comes Back
Kingston came back a little in the last half, but was still outscored, 31-28. Masterson had all of his second-string in as early as the opening minute of the last chukker.

George Uhl played his second straight fine game for Kingston. The hustling guard, who was making his first start, scored 11 points before fouling out.

Bob Smith came out of the scoring doldrums somewhat after two poor games in which he failed to score in double figures. "Smitty" caged 14 for high KHS honors and played his usual good head game.

Kingston faces Monticello Friday at the field house in its next start.

Pioneers Halt Liberty By 61 to 59

Stu Sonne threw in a 30-foot shot with five seconds to play to give Poughkeepsie High a pulsating 61-59 victory over Liberty Central last night in a battle of unbeaten DUSO League teams.

Sonne's payoff heave lifted the Pioneers into undisputed possession of first place and toppled the Indians from the top perch into a three-way deadlock for third. Poughkeepsie now stands 3-0 and is the only undefeated club in the circuit. Liberty is 3-1.

The winning basket climaxed a tremendous see-saw battle in which the Indians fought back gamely in the closing period to go ahead after trailing throughout most of the exciting tilt.

In the final seconds Liberty's diminutive star Johnny Lawrence lost a chance to put his team on top when he missed a foul toss after a technical was called against the Pioneers. The Indians blew another golden opportunity moments later when they lost the ball after taking it out-of-bounds. Poughkeepsie then gained possession and Sonne did the rest.

Lee J. Nelson of the Pioneers was high scorer for the game with 26. Sonne wound up with 11. Jack Thompson canned 19 for the losers and Lawrence 15. Kevin Maloney contributed 12 and Demy Payne 10.

Records Not Safe

Lawrence, Kans. (NEA)—Wilt Chamberlain, scoring 306 points in his first nine games as varsity player, became the fifth Kansas star to reach that total. It took the rest of them nearly a full season.

BEFORE EXAMINATION—Russ Meyer, left, and Gerry Lynch, both of the Cincinnati Redlegs, appear in a Cincinnati hospital room Jan. 8 shortly before doctors examined them for shoulder ailments. Meyer, obtained from the Chicago Cubs last season, had a pulled muscle. Lynch, former Pittsburgh player drafted by the Reds, had phlebitis of the shoulder, which doctors said generally appears in the legs. (AP Wirephoto)

Port Rips Middies

Alex Osowick, Eddie Mack and Russ Devore combined forces to score all but 10 of Port Jervis High's total as the Red Raiders outclassed Middletown, 63-46, in the DUSO League last night at Port.

Osowick, a cinch for All-DUSO honors, had the hottest hand with 20 points. Mack threw in 17 and Devore added 16 as the Redman captured their third loop start in four games.

Jim Merritt's 19 points topped the Middies who are 1-3 in the circuit.

Port rolled up a 16-7 lead in the first period but Middletown bounced back to shave the deficit to 28-22 at intermission.

A 22-point explosion in the third chukker wrapped up the game for the home club.

Port also grabbed the jayvee game, 32-29.

New York (NEA)—Middleweight champion Gene Fullmer has never been knocked out.

Baugh Possible Houston Coach

Houston, Tex., Jan. 9 (P)—Former professional football star Sammy Baugh, who says he wants to better himself in the coaching profession, has been mentioned as a possible successor to Bill Meek at the University of Houston.

Meek, 34, quit Houston for a 10-year contract at Southern Methodist in the Southwest Conference.

Baugh, former Texas Christian All-America and a pro star for 16 years, said yesterday he has not applied for the job, "but if they are interested in me I certainly would like to talk to them."

"I'm definitely interested in improving myself in the coaching profession and the University of Houston job would be a big step."

Baugh has been head coach at Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, Tex., for the past two years. He has three years to go on a five year contract.

Sox in Market For Al Kaline

Chicago, Jan. 9 (P)—The Chicago White Sox are in the market to purchase Al Kaline but the Detroit Tigers don't want to sell their young star outfielder at any price.

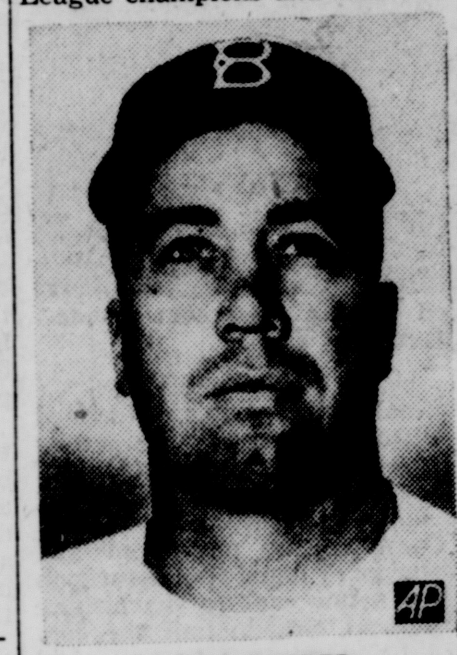

Vice President Chuck Comiskey of the White Sox yesterday offered Detroit $25,000 in cash or players for the 22-year-old Tiger star but Detroit turned thumbs down on the deal.

Detroit general manager Spike Briggs said "Chuck started about $150,000 short in his offer. But we aren't going to sell Kaline for any kind of money."

Briggs also put a damper on any possible further deals with the Sox by saying there is nothing on the fire at the moment.

Snider Signs For $42,000

Brooklyn, Jan. 9 (P)—The Brooklyn Dodgers had their leading slugger—Duke Snider—in the fold today. Snider is the seventh member of the National League champions and their first outfielder to come to terms for 1957.

In making the announcement yesterday, the Brook front office said Snider reported from his ranch in Fallbrook, Calif., that he weighed 201, two pounds less than he did at World Series time last year.

Terms of the contract, as usual, were not disclosed but it is believed Snider will draw $42,000. In 1956, the Duke batted .292 while leading the circuit in home runs with 43 and in slugging percentage with .598.

NCAA Action Squelches PCC

St. Louis, Jan. 9 (P)—The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. has indicated it doesn't plan to soften its penalties against member schools put on probation for infractions of the recruiting rules.

Wait Byers, executive director, said last night the 18-man NCAA council hasn't discussed and doesn't plan to discuss any changes in its basic penalty structure.

The council has been meeting in connection with the NCAA's 51st convention, which opened today.

PCC Squelched

The Byers statement seemed to squelch the hopes of schools on probation in the Pacific Coast Conference that the ban on their participation in NCAA events might be softened.

The Pacific Coast Conference last week modified its own penalties against Washington, California, Southern Cal and UCLA, limiting their application to football.

But the schools still are barred from 27 post-season tournaments and other events either sponsored or blessed by the NCAA.

Marge Burns Leads Tourney by 5 Strokes

Sebring, Fla., Jan. 9 (P)—Marge Burns of Greensboro, N. C., held a five-stroke lead over Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore, her closest competitor, going into the second round of the second annual women's invitational golf tournament.

Miss Burns shot a one-under-par 74 to take the lead. Miss Terry Logan of Belleville, N. J., had 81 and third standing and in fourth were Mrs. George Bruck of Westport, Conn., and Mrs. James P. Lee of Miami. Mrs. Glick won the 72-hole tournament last year.

Washington, Jan. 9 (P)—Frank Gifford, halfback for the New York Giants, was named today to receive the Washington Touchdown Club's award as the outstanding professional football player of the year.

The 205-pound backfield star lives in Bakersfield, Calif.

Ed Hickey, head of the club's selection board, said Gifford ranked among the first five nationally for ground gaining, and among the first three for pass reception.

The announcement of Gifford's selection completes the list of athletes who will be honored at the club's 23rd annual dinner here Saturday night.

Rondout Valley Wins 7th Straight, Beating Saugerties, 55-52

Gilman's Run of Four Points Near End Overtakes Sawyers

Tannenbaum Scores 33 as Ellenville Wins, 73-58

Blue Devils Surge To 2nd Place by Beating Monties

Tom Gilman lifted Rondout Valley Central from the threshold of defeat with a run of four points in the final two minutes as the Kerhonkson club edged Saugerties High, 55-52, for their seventh straight victory last night at Kerhonkson.

The win was the third in the UCL for the defending champions and placed them in second place ahead of the Sawyers who stand 3-1. The success set the stage for Rondout's showdown clash Friday with pace-setting Ontonagon Central at Boiceville.

With Rondout trailing 52-51, Billy Zeilman fouled Gilman in the act of shooting. The senior forward sank both shots to put his club in front for keeps. Then in the waning moments, Gilman took a pass from Art Stockin and scored the clinching basket.

Thrilling Game

The contest was a thriller-diller all the way and was reminiscent of last year's 61-60 hair-raiser that snapped Saugerties' 15-game winning streak. No more than a couple of points separated the clubs at any time as the teams swapped baskets throughout.

Rondout took a 14-13 lead in the first quarter, but Saugerties knotted it 28-28 at intermission. The home five got some breathing space (43-38) going into the fourth period, but the invaders battled back to regain the lead for the last time in the final 2½ minutes.

Saugerties lost Zeilman and tall center Austin Kerin on fouls. Zeilman went out after fouling Gilman while Kerin departed at the outset of the last period. Gilman and John Mustion were high for the winners with 16 each. It marked just the second time this season that Mustion had been held under 20 points.

Kerin Gets 17

Big Kerin notched 17 for top honors. Speedy Zeilman contributed 15.

An oddity occurred in the final period when the clock had to be turned back five seconds after a protest by Saugerties. It seems that in the heat of battle, the timer failed to shut off the clock as the teams lined up for a jump ball.

Saugerties won the jayvee game, 42-30. Ed Hannon hit 12 for Rondout.

Jackson Charged With Forging Auto License

New York, Jan. 9 (P)—Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, No. 1 heavyweight boxing contender who fatally injured a pedestrian with his auto, was arrested last night on a charge of forging a driver's license.

The 26-year-old Negro boxer was held overnight in a police station detention cell pending arraignment today in Federal Court. The man he struck, Charles Balga, 60, died yesterday in a Queens hospital. He was hit Monday night while chasing his dog across a street in Edgemere, Queens.

At that time police gave Jackson a summons charging him with driving without a license. A license he showed, purportedly a chauffeur's license, was reported to be partly illegible. Police said Jackson had not been driving recklessly.

Police said they checked the Motor Vehicle Bureau yesterday and found that no chauffeur's license had been issued to Jackson. Police had no information on hand as to why Jackson should have to forge a license.

No vehicle homicide charge was lodged. Jackson is ranked the No. 1 contender for the world heavyweight title held by Floyd Patterson in the latest Ring ratings.

Maroon Streak Snapped

Lawrence's 28 Points Paces NFA JV's Over KHS, 59-46

Gene Lawrence scored 28 points as the Newburgh Free Academy jayvees topped Kingston, 59-46, snapping a four-game winning streak of the junior Maroons.

With Lawrence showing the way, NFA overcame a 27-24 halftime deficit in the final half to pull the game out. The Maroons were held to a meager seven points in the third period while Newburgh tallied 15 and that helped lose it for them.

John Kelly and Charlie Williams shared scoring honors for Kingston, getting 14 each. Hobie Armstrong rimmed 10. Jack Coonan made 10 for Newburgh to round out the double figure scoring.

Clarkson Rolls

Potsdam, Jan. 9 (P)—Eddie Roew's three goals and three assists spearheaded Clarkson to an 8-2 hockey victory over Ottawa last night. The winners broke a tie and went ahead, 5-2 in the second period. Clarkson's record is 7-2. Ottawa has two wins and two ties against six defeats.

$10 More Advised As Sick Benefit

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 9 (P) — Gov. Harriman today recommended that benefits paid workers under the sickness disability program include an additional $10 daily when hospital expenses are incurred.

He proposed in his annual message to the Legislature that a ceiling of $150 per worker be set on the hospitalization benefits. The present coverage period under the disability now is 20 weeks a year.

Guarantees of hospital-care payments would send the state into an area that has been dominated by such programs as the Blue Cross and by sickness-disability plans of private insurance companies.

Harriman also recommended raising the basic sickness disability payment benefits, now a maximum $40 weekly, to $45 a week.

He proposed that unemployment insurance payments and workmen's compensation benefits, both currently at a maximum $36 a week, also be raised to $45 weekly.

Other Suggestions
The governor suggested that coverage under sickness disability benefits be extended to 26 weeks and a reduction from 20 to 15 weeks in the number of weeks of work required for eligibility for unemployment insurance.

He said a supplementary unemployment insurance tax of 39 million dollars scheduled for collection this year and asked the Legislature to cancel it. He said available funds would cover payments.

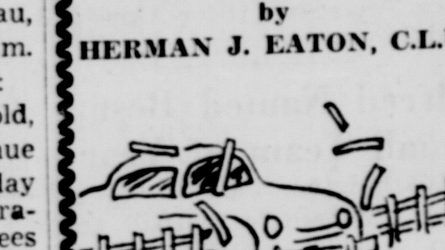

Harriman called for legislation to provide for supervision of some $90 "self-insured" pension plans in the state. He said they covered 700,000 employees and had assets totaling 14 billion dollars.

State law now provides for regulation of welfare and pension funds operated jointly by labor and management.

Turkey's military aid from the United States in the 1955-56 fiscal period amounted to 200 million dollars.

More Snow Forecast

Boston, Jan. 9 (P) — The Weather Bureau at Boston says a new snow storm—the third in 10 days—will hit New England today. And a fourth snow storm may hit the area by Thursday night and Friday, the forecaster added. Today's snow moved into the northeast from the Middle Atlantic states and was expected to drop what the Weather Bureau described as "just a few inches." Two to three inches of new snow, over the 10 inches which fell last weekend, was forecast for the Boston area today.
